FRANCE'S PLAN FOR PAYING DEBT TO THE U. S.

FRENCH FINANCE MINISTER GIVES NOTE ON BASIS

URGES A TEN-YEAR MORATORIUM BE DECLARED

THAT PAYMENT EXTEND OVER 90-YEAR PERIOD, INTEREST 1 1/2 PER CENT

(By United Press)
Paris, Jan. 2.—French Finance Minister Clementel today presented a note to American Ambassador Myron P. Herrick suggesting a basis for settlement of France's debt to the United States and making a 10-year moratorium.

The United Press learns that the French note proposes that payment of the debt be extended over a period of 90 years with interest at 1 1/2 per cent.

The foreign office announced delivery of the note this afternoon.

The move for a debt settlement came as the climax to a furor over the subject aroused by the inventory presented to the Chamber of Deputies by Clementel a week ago.

The finance minister's remarks anent French ability to pay her debt and hinting at sentiment favoring a pooling of war debts was misinterpreted, he explained afterward. They caused such a sensation, however, that the French government lost no time in moving for a settlement.

Premier Herriot who communicated personally with Ambassador Herrick on the subject early in the week still is confined to bed.

While the note is considered the most definite move yet made by France toward a debt settlement, the foreign office stated that the document was of a private character. It contains an expose of the financial and economic situation in France and gives tentative suggestions regarding terms, including a moratorium.

The foreign office issued a denial of reports that payments are to be extended over 65 years and other rumors that have been current recently.

BRITAIN WANTS SIMILAR TERMS

London, Jan. 2.—The Morning Post said today that Great Britain has informed the United States there is no objection to France obtaining more favorable debt terms than this country provided Britain and the United States share any French payments.

CONCILIATORY NOTE FROM THE BRITISH

Washington, Jan. 2.—A conciliatory note was received at the state department today from Great Britain which prepares the way for further discussion concerning this government's demand to share in German reparations proceeds in payment of roughly $250,000,000 war claims.

Great Britain, however, still refuses to recognize the legal right of the United States to collect through the reparations fund, which is to be re-allocated at the Paris financial conference January 6.

SUES RAILWAY, CHARGES STABBING BY FELLOW WORKER

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Jan. 2.—John M. Varley today filed suit against the Great Northern railway for $15,000 damages because a fellow employe stabbed him August 7.

Varley charged that Mike Ferrari stabbed him in the railway shops where the were employed, and declared the defendant, knowing Ferrari to be hot-tempered and dangerous, is responsible for retaining him as an employe. The quarrel, it developed, after Ferrari's arrest, grew out of a dispute over a fence between their homes.

Chicago Gives the New Year a Violent Start

GREATER DEMAND SEEN FOR LABOR IN MINNESOTA

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Jan. 2.—A much greater demand for both common and skilled labor is foreseen in Minnesota this year in the report of the United States department of labor. The forecast was made in a special survey report of the industrial, agricultural and general employment prospects for the year.

LOS ANGELES POLICE THINK THEY HAVE TAKEN HOLTE

MAN IS WANTED IN MINNEAPOLIS ON MURDER CHARGE

CLAIMED HE DID KILLING DURING ARGUMENT OVER AUTO ACCIDENT

(By United Press)
Los Angeles, Calif., Jan. 2.—A man believed to be John C. Holte, 22, wanted in Minneapolis for murder, was arrested here today.

Holte is charged with killing another man during an argument over a trivial automobile accident. His victim's wife and four children witnessed the tragedy. Detectives said they are "positive" the prisoner is Holte and he is awaiting further word from Minneapolis for complete identification.

MINNEAPOLIS CASE REVIEWED BY POLICE

Minneapolis, Jan. 2.—John C. Holte, arrested in Los Angeles as a suspect in the murder of Alfred Nelson, will be brought back to Minneapolis at once, police said.

Nelson, contractor of Austin, Minnesota, was driving with his wife and four children when his machine collided with a small coupe. The drivers started to argue about the right of way. Nelson suggested they go to the police station and they started there, Nelson standing on the running board of the coupe. Half a block from the scene of the accident the driver, alleged to be Holte, drew a revolver and shot Nelson, who died instantly. The coupe was found abandoned near a tourist park at Minnehaha Park.

SUNDAY REST LAW IS HELD UNCONSTITUTIONAL

EXCEPTED TOO MANY OCCUPATIONS FROM ITS PROVISIONS

SUPREME COURT ACTS IN A ST. PAUL HOTEL CASE

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Jan. 2.—The Minnesota law providing for one day's rest in seven was held unconstitutional by the State Supreme Court today.

Enacted by the last legislature the law excepts 20 occupations from its provisions and because of this provision the supreme court held the equality provisions of the state and federal constitutions were violated by the measure.

The case was decided against Walter A. Pocock, hotel owner, charged with having employed Albert Choulet more than six days a week in the power plant of the hotel. The court held that the law if made to apply to all occupations would be constitutional.

Immediately after the decision was read steps were taken to bring a measure covering all occupations before the legislature when it convenes next week.

FIRE BREAKS OUT ON LINER AS GALE PAGES

200 PASSENGERS ENDANGERED, SHIP PUTS FOR SHORE

REACHED DELAWARE BREAKWATERS IN SAFETY

(By United Press)
New York, Jan. 2.—The Clyde liner "Mohawk" with 200 passengers aboard bound to Charleston, S. C., and Jacksonville, Fla., has put into the Delaware breakwaters after being damaged by fire.

The Mohawk left New York at noon yesterday with a full list of passengers bound to southern winter resorts.

Fire broke out during the night. The ship immediately headed for the Delaware breakwaters.

She reached there safely and the passengers were taken ashore to continue to their destinations by rail. There was little confusion, company officials here said, and damage to the vessel was not extensive.

The Mohawk is a passenger ship of 5,000 tons.

A 40-mile gale was lashing the coast when the flames were discovered but company officials claimed the vessel was well handled and that the crew moved promptly in getting the fire under control. Company officials said the fire was reported entirely extinguished in messages received at 9 a. m.

The fire broke out about 1 a. m., company officials said, as she was beating her way down the coast in a storm. Cause of the blaze was not known but it was definitely established in radio messages at 10 a. m. that the fire was out, officials said. Passengers are being landed at Lewes, Del. The Mohawk probably will be brought back to New York for repairs.

FLAMES SWEEP SHIP AND IT IS ABANDONED

Wilmington, Del., Jan. 2.—The Clyde liner Mohawk has been abandoned after unsuccessful efforts to put out a fire which broke out early today.

Radio advices here this afternoon said flames were sweeping the ship and that efforts to control them had been abandoned.

All of the 212 passengers were removed and brought to Lewes, Del. The crew of 82 men left later.

She was abandoned shortly after 1 p. m. today. The vessel is about 15 miles north of Lewes. The Clyde liner provided a special train coming by way of Wilmington for the passengers. Many passengers lost all their trunks and other possessions which were stored in the hold of the vessel.

ANCHORS AT LEWES 9:30 A. M.

Lewes, Del., Jan. 2.—The Clyde liner Mohawk anchored in the breakwaters off here at 9:30 a. m. today. Fire in her after hold for a time threatened destruction but is entirely extinguished, according to officers of the coast guard station here.

FIRE STILL RAGING IN HOLD

Wilmington, Jan. 2.—Fire is still raging in the steamer Mohawk's after hold, it was learned just before noon today. It may be necessary to partly sink the vessel in order to extinguish the fire. Passengers are being moved on the steamer Kickapoo from the Mohawk, which is 12 miles off Lewes.

Consume Many Pine Seeds

Government experiments with the appetites of ground squirrels and chipmunks in an endeavor to determine what damage they do to the seed crop of our conifer trees showed that the ground squirrel averaged 340 pine seeds in 24 hours while the chipmunk got away with 237 over the same period.

ANNUAL RUSH STARTS FOR AUTO LICENSES TODAY

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Jan. 2.—The annual rush for automobile licenses started today. Extra employes were started to work in the registration department of the secretary of state's office. Payment of about $9,000,000 in motor vehicle license taxes is expected this year. Taxes must be paid by February 15. After that date a penalty is added.

NEW YORK IN GRIP OF BLIZZARD

BITING SNOW WHIPPED BY A 35-MILE GALE THIS MORNING

New York, Jan. 2.—New York city awoke in the grip of a blizzard which hampered the city's transportation facilities, tangled traffic in the harbor and sent a biting snow whipped by a 35-mile gale to the strong detriment of pedestrians.

The first severe snow storm of the winter arrived unexpectedly during the night after a moderate New Year's day. Swirling gusts of fine, penetrating snow blinded persons on the street and made traffic conditions perilous. Several thousand unemployed answered the call for snow shovelers.

PRES. REA ASKS FAIR TREATMENT FOR RAILROADS

PLEADS TO KEEP TRANSPORTATION SYSTEM OUT OF POLITICS

MATTER OF FAIR RETURNS IS INVOLVED, SAYS REA

(By United Press)
Philadelphia, Jan. 2.—The New Year outlook spells "prosperity" and business men of the nation are looking toward the future with great confidence. Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, declared today in a statement on the business outlook for 1925 from a railroad standpoint.

"The railroads are interested in good business because they make their revenues from traffic which represents the output of the business activity of the nation," Rea said. "They are among the country's greatest taxpayers. They consume probably one-quarter of the lumber output, one-third of the iron and steel output, one-third of the coal mined, and an important percentage of the output of practically every basic industry of the country."

"Railroads spent a billion and a quarter dollars annually for materials and supplies (exclusive of fuel) and about three billion dollars yearly for wages. Another billion dollars is spent by the railroads for extension of facilities and new equipment in every good business year."

"Therefore, altogether, their effect on the prosperity of the country is very far-reaching. To enable them to continue such a program of expenditures and employment, the necessity of allowing them to earn a fair return, and maintain their credit and purchasing power is the strongest condition, and provide adequate transportation, is one of the paramount issues of the country. Weak railroads make an unprosperous and discontented nation, and are most hurtful to the farmers and industry."

Rea pointed out the temporary reduction in business during 1924 was because the country passed through a presidential election year and experienced the usual unsettlement of business and of public mind, but that conditions are now continually improving as the nation has ample capital and foreign and domestic conditions.

TAXES FOR ROAD BUILDING MAKE ARGUMENT

WILL FURNISH BIG FIGHT IN THE LEGISLATURE

REPEAL OF BROOKS-COLEMAN STREET RAILWAY AMENDMENT URGED

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Jan. 2.—Taxes for road building will furnish the big fight for the legislature when it convenes next Tuesday.

Commissioner of Highways C. M. Babcock wants to take advantage of the gasoline tax amendment to raise funds for his department and believes it will more than finance a $20,000,000 bond issue for immediate construction of paved trunk roads.

Legislators have found much sentiment opposing extensive highway programs, leaders here said today. When the gasoline tax amendment was passed last November thousands voted for it who understood that the present automobile license tax would be cut down, probably 50 per cent. Some believed that it would substitute the automobile license tax. When the present bill is introduced opposing forces will marshal their strength in committee, but the big fight probably will come on the floor of the House.

Repeal of the Brooks-Coleman street railway amendment suggested by Ivan Bowen, railroad and warehouse commissioner after the courts recently decided the Duluth rate case was urged today by Rep. Frank P. Starkey, St. Paul. He asked Rep. Guy Dille, chairman of the Ramsey county delegation, to call members together for adoption of a resolution favoring passage of a repeal measure. His contention is that the Brooks-Coleman act causes the needless expenditure of huge sums, in as much as the courts are final authority.

Supply of Oil Is Ample for Hundreds of Years, Says Expert

(By United Press)
New York, Jan. 2.—If the nation's dwindling oil resources force restrictive use of gasoline automobiles will be hit first, it is asserted by Dr. W. F. Schaphorst, of Newark, N. J., in a report upon oil burning prepared for the official journal of the American Chemical Society.

"Because of the growth in oil production," says the report, "it can now be safely said that even purchasers of motor cars need fear no cessation of oil supply, and prospective users of fuel oil in chemical and industrial plants need no longer ask each other the usual question, 'Will it pay us to convert over to oil burning?' Will the supply of oil be exhausted before we get our investment back?"

"Those who have made a study of the matter declare that the supply of oil is ample for hundreds of years. There are 15,000,000 automobiles in the United States, all of them using as much gasoline as they want."

"If restrictions are ever to be made anywhere, gasoline supply to the automobile field will surely be curtailed before the essential industries are touched. The chemical industry is, of course, an essential industry."

LOCOMOTIVE DISABLED BY AUTO IN COLLISION

Sioux Falls, S. D., Jan. 2.—When Homer Thompson, Sioux Falls youth, saw a train coming as he neared a downtown crossing in his automobile yesterday afternoon, he threw on the brakes and the machine skidded so that it met the engine head on. Thompson drove his car home under its own power but the railroad company had to send another engine to the scene to tow back to the roundhouse the locomotive which was struck by Thompson's car.

8 NEW CASES OF SMALLPOX; 3 DEATHS REPORTED

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, Jan. 2.—Eight new smallpox cases and three deaths were reported to the health bureau in the last 48 hours. The new cases of smallpox bring the total under quarantine to 248. During two days 950 vaccinations were made.

CHARGES AN EFFORT TO BEAT POSTAL BILL

POSTAL CLERKS' ASSOCIATIONS TAKE ACTION IN THE MATTER

SAYS POLITICS MIXED UP IN SUSPENSION OF SIX POSTAL OFFICIALS

(By United Press)
Washington, Jan. 2.—Postal clerks' associations here today charged that the action of the postoffice department in suspending six postal officials for complicity in a money-raising scheme to promote the postal salaries increase bill was another step in a "deliberate and studied campaign to defeat the bill."

Thomas J. Flaherty, president of the National Federation of Postal Clerks, declared the postoffice department had documents concerning the alleged scheme in its possession for four or five months prior to starting action.

The first broadside, he said, came half an hour after the senate had agreed to vote on the postal bill on January 6 in the releasing of charges against E. H. McDermott, clerk in the Senate postoffice committee and implicating by inference the postal clerks.

"Now they come four days before the vote on the veto with another blast," said Flaherty. "It is a deliberate attempt to defeat the bill."

The Senate postoffice committee in executive session today considered the suspension question and worked on the final draft of a new bill they hope to present tomorrow or Monday.

FASCISTI AND OPPONENTS CLASH IN ITALY TODAY

MUSSOLINI GOVERNMENT PROHIBITS FASCISTI MEETINGS

PREMIER IN STERN RESOLVE TO MAINTAIN ORDER

(By United Press)
Rome, Jan. 2.—Increasing disorders and sporadic clashes between fascisti and their opponents marked the arrival of the New Year in Italy. Fascist carabinieri killed two communists at Genzano while government sympathizers in Florence partly wrecked the building of the Nuovo Giornale, destroyed the Masonic lodge and attempted to storm the jail to free fascisti under arrest there.

The Mussolini government, whose difficulties increase with each outbreak, has prohibited all fascist parades and gatherings including the proposed meetings here Sunday.

Tomorrow Mussolini will address the chamber of deputies re-emphasizing the stern resolve of the government to maintain order.

Minister Federonzi sent a police inspector to investigate the incidents at Florence. The Nuovo Giornale which had offended fascist sensibilities by its editorials, was guarded by police and resumed publication.

When the first number appeared police sequestered the property because of the nature of the new editorials.

SEVEN DEATHS MARK OPENING HOLIDAY SEASON

TWO DEATHS DUE TO LIQUOR, 75 CASES ALCOHOLISM REPORTED

MAN WHO RAN AMUCK WHILE DRINKING KILLED BY A PATROLMAN

(By United Press)
Chicago, Jan. 2.—Seven violent deaths marked the opening of the New Year for Chicago.

Two of the deaths were due to liquor, while 75 cases of alcoholism were reported by hospitals.

Patrolman James J. Ivers shot and killed Frank Campanio, 30, who ran amuck while drinking. Campanio, gun in each hand, was shooting up a restaurant when Ivers ordered him to surrender. Instead Campanio lifted his gun, causing Ivers to shoot him through the heart.

William Coleman and John Olos were shot and killed by stray bullets from celebrators. James Connelly and Matanski Mezaniski died following drinking bouts, the coroner reported.

James M. Max was shot and killed during a quarrel with his wife.

Adam Burdzinski, 15, was the first traffic casualty of the New Year. He died from injuries sustained under the wheels of a motor truck. Last year's traffic fatalities totalled 486.

4 DEAD, SCORE HURT IN NEW YORK

New York, Jan. 2.—Four died, more than a score were injured and hundreds required hospital treatment as the aftermath of the city's New Year celebration. Poison liquor caused two deaths and another resulted from a fight following an argument of the night before. The fourth fatality occurred in an automobile accident involving a homebound New Year's eve enthusiasts.

U. S. IS FAST BECOMING NATION OF COMMUTERS

Chicago, Jan. 2.—Movement in population from the country to the city, has been shifted and the present trend is from the city to the suburbs, declared Prof. William L. Bailey, of the sociology department of Northwestern University.

"We are changing from flatdwellers in the cities into commuters into the country. Two-by-four apartments are being deserted for suburban bungalows with little gardens," sings the professor.

His analysis of population, made public after years of research, indicates that Chicago will shortly pass New York in number of residents and most of these will dwell in the districts stretching along the shores of Lake Michigan.

Dr. Bailey's study shows that half the population listed as rural now lives within ten miles of some city of 10,000 or more population. With half the nation's population listed as rural, these figures may be taken to mean that three-fourths of the nation's population is now either urban or suburban.

"New York's suburbs now contain almost as many persons as there are in Chicago. Boston's suburbs contain three times as many persons as Chicago's. But Chicago's rate of suburban growth indicates that in a few years this city will have the largest suburban population in the country."

Washington, Jan. 2.—New sizes of cigar containers, to hold 3 and 7 smokes, have just been provided by the Internal Revenue Bureau and probably will make it easier for small boys to purchase inexpensive smokes for their fathers and uncles birthdays. The new sizes were provided for in the 1924 revenue act, but the revenue bureau's revision of regulations to include them had to be issued before they went into effect.

Will the supply of oil be exhausted before we get our investment back?'"

"Those who have made a study of the matter declare that the supply of oil is ample for hundreds of years. There are 15,000,000 automobiles in the United States, all of them using as much gasoline as they want."

"If restrictions are ever to be made anywhere, gasoline supply to the automobile field will surely be curtailed before the essential industries are touched. The chemical industry is, of course, an essential industry."

LOCOMOTIVE DISABLED BY AUTO IN COLLISION

Sioux Falls, S. D., Jan. 2.—When Homer Thompson, Sioux Falls youth, saw a train coming as he neared a downtown crossing in his automobile yesterday afternoon, he threw on the brakes and the machine skidded so that it met the engine head on. Thompson drove his car home under its own power but the railroad company had to send another engine to the scene to tow back to the roundhouse the locomotive which was struck by Thompson's car.

8 NEW CASES OF SMALLPOX; 3 DEATHS REPORTED

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, Jan. 2.—Eight new smallpox cases and three deaths were reported to the health bureau in the last 48 hours.

The new cases of smallpox bring the total under quarantine to 248. During two days 950 vaccinations were made.

CHARGES AN EFFORT TO BEAT POSTAL BILL

POSTAL CLERKS' ASSOCIATIONS TAKE ACTION IN THE MATTER

SAYS POLITICS MIXED UP IN SUS- PENSION OF SIX POSTAL OFFICIALS

(By United Press)
Washington, Jan. 2.—Postal clerks' associations here today charged that the action of the postoffice department in suspending six postal officials for complicity in a money-raising scheme to promote the postal salaries increase bill was another step in a "deliberate and studied campaign to defeat the bill."

Thomas J. Flaherty, president of the National Federation of Postal Clerks, declared the postoffice department had documents concerning the alleged scheme in its possession for four or five months prior to starting action.

The first broadside, he said, came half an hour after the senate had agreed to vote on the postal bill on January 6 in the releasing of charges against E. H. McDermott, clerk in the Senate postoffice committee and implicating by inference the postal clerks.

"Now they come four days before the vote on the veto with another blast," said Flaherty. "It is a deliberate attempt to defeat the bill."

The Senate postoffice committee in executive session today considered the suspension question and worked on the final draft of a new bill they hope to present tomorrow or Monday.

FASCISTI AND OPPONENTS CLASH IN ITALY TODAY

MUSSOLINI GOVERNMENT PRO- HIBITS FASCISTI MEET- INGS

PREMIER IN STERN RESOLVE TO MAINTAIN ORDER

(By United Press)
Rome, Jan. 2.—Increasing disorders and sporadic clashes between fascisti and their opponents marked the arrival of the New Year in Italy. Fascist carabinieri killed two communists at Genzano while government sympathizers in Florence partly wrecked the building of the Nuovo Giornale, destroyed the Masonic lodge and attempted to storm the jail to free fascisti under arrest there.

The Mussolini government, whose difficulties increase with each outbreak, has prohibited all fascist parades and gatherings including the proposed meetings here Sunday.

Tomorrow Mussolini will address the chamber of deputies re-emphasizing the stern resolve of the government to maintain order.

Minister Federonizi sent a police inspector to investigate the incidents at Florence. The Nuovo Giornale which had offended fascist sensibilities by its editorials, was guarded by police and resumed publication.

When the first number appeared police sequestered the property because of the nature of the new editorials.

SEVEN DEATHS MARK OPENING HOLIDAY SEASON

TWO DEATHS DUE TO LIQUOR, 75 CASES ALCOHOLISM REPORTED

MAN WHO RAN AMUCK WHILE DRINKING KILLED BY A PATROLMAN

(By United Press)
Chicago, Jan. 2.—Seven violent deaths marked the opening of the New Year for Chicago.

Two of the deaths were due to liquor, while 75 cases of alcoholism were reported by hospitals.

Patrolman James J. Ivers shot and killed Frank Campanio, 30, who ran amuck while drinking. Campanio, gun in each hand, was shooting up a restaurant when Ivers ordered him to surrender. Instead Campanio lifted his gun, causing Ivers to shoot him through the heart.

William Coleman and John Olos were shot and killed by stray bullets from celebrators. James Connelly and Matansis Mezanski died following drinking bouts, the coroner reported.

James M. Max was shot and killed during a quarrel with his wife.

Adam Burdzinski, 15, was the first traffic casualty of the New Year. He died from injuries sustained under the wheels of a motor truck. Last year's traffic fatalities totalled 686.

4 DEAD, SCORE

HURT IN NEW YORK

New York, Jan. 2.—Four died, more than a score were injured and hundreds required hospital treatment as the aftermath of the city's New Year celebration. Poison liquor caused two deaths and another resulted from a fight following an argument of the night before. The fourth fatality occurred in an automobile accident involving a home-bound New Year's eve enthusiast.

U. S. IS FAST BECOMING NATION OF COMMUTERS

Chicago, Jan. 2.—Movement in population from the country to the city, has been shifted and the present trend is from the city to the suburbs, declared Prof. William L. Bailey, of the sociology department of Northwestern university.

"We are changing from flatdwellers in the cities into commuters into the country. Two-by-four apartments are being deserted for suburban bungalows with little gardens," sings the professor.

His analysis of population, made public after years of research, indicates that Chicago will shortly pass New York in number of residents and most of these will dwell in the districts stretching along the shores of Lake Michigan.

Dr. Bailey's study shows that half the population listed as rural now lives within ten miles of some city of 10,000 or more population. With half the nation's population listed as rural, these figures may be taken to mean that three-fourths of the nation's population is now either urban or suburban.

"New York's suburbs now contain almost as many persons as there are in Chicago. Boston's suburbs contain three times as many persons as Chicago's. But Chicago's rate of suburban growth indicates that in a few years this city will have the largest suburban population in the country."

Washington, Jan. 2.—New sizes of cigar containers, to hold 3 and 7 smokes, have just been provided by the Internal Revenue Bureau and probably will make it easier for small boys to purchase inexpensive smokes for their fathers and uncles birthdays. The new sizes were provided for in the 1924 revenue act, but the revenue bureau's revision of regulations to include them had to be issued before they went into effect.

Each Thought Other Dead

"Dead" brothers met at Cardiff, Wales, neither having seen the other for twenty years, and each thinking the other dead. One enlisted at the age of nineteen in 1901, and was reported to have been killed during the siege of Kut. The other enlisted in the Cameron Highlanders in 1914, and was so badly wounded in 1916, he lost both arms. They met in the Union Jack club and looked at each other without speaking, and while friends were wondering what was the matter one of the brothers fainted. When he recovered, explanations were made, and the reunion was complete.

The Trying Fascists

Mortimer Schiff, the noted New York capitalist, was talking about the Fascists in Italy.

"The Fascists think," he said, "that whatever they do is right. This attitude on their part is certainly very trying."

"The Fascists remind me of the lady who wished to open an account with a department store. They asked her for a reference, and she gave the name of Charles M. Schwab."

"But Mr. Schwab, it turned out, didn't know the lady, and so, when she called at the store again, the credit man said to her:

"I'm sorry to tell you, madam, that your reference is unsatisfactory."

"Well, now, that's a surprise to me," said the lady. "I always thought Charles M. Schwab's financial standing was above reproach."

The Change

"Times have changed," said old Festus Pester. "In the good old days of yore, when a wagon broke down in the road we used to gather around it and put in several hours apiece inquiring how the contraptions occurred, sympathizing with the owner of the vehicle and recalling and describing in the most minute detail sundry incidents of similar character which had transpired in the past. But nowadays when a motorcar blows out a tire we go right on. Eh-yah!—times have changed, and for the worse. Most people these days have no more sympathy than so many snapping turtles."

Sir Peregrine's Prejudice

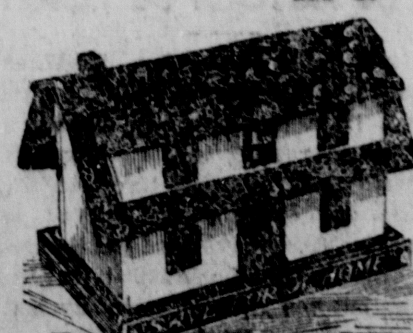

Joe Coyne, the American comedian who has been for years a star of the London stage, had an adventure with a new-made knight last summer.

This knight—call him Sir Peregrine—refused to rent his cottage at Maidenhead to Mr. Coyne because the latter was an actor.

"Sir Peregrine," the house agent explained, "rented to an actor once before, and there was a great deal of unpleasantness."

"Well, you tell Sir Peregrine," Mr. Coyne retorted, "that if he believes in condemning a whole class for one individual, he might remember that Sir Roger Casement, knight, was hanged."

THE NORTHWEST ANGLE LOCATED

A SENSATIONAL "cabin murder mystery" in that portion of the United States known as the Northwest Angle, has aroused interest in its location. The Angle is a small section of land on the northwest shore of the Lake of the Woods, which is connected with Canada by land but separated from the United States by water.

The Bemidji Daily Pioneer has traced the history of this isolated section. According to the story, it happened when the Webster-Asburton treaty was being negotiated between England and the United States.

Engineers were sent out by both countries to mark the border line and there was a considerable argument between the two parties as to whether Pigeon River or the St. Louis River would be the river to follow. According to old records of that day, Pigeon River was finally decided on and this gave the U. S. Isle Royale and surrounding small islands, while in the other case as contended by the British, Duluth and the iron ranges would have belonged to Canada.

Following the Pigeon river to its source the line was decided on through a number of streams and lakes including Rainy Lake and down the Rainy river to its mouth. From that point a north-westerly direction was taken through the Lake of the Woods to the mouth of Angle river, the contention being that the fiftieth parallel of latitude should be the dividing line between the two countries. The engineers had reached a point on Angle river when word reached them that the treaty commissioners had agreed on the forty-ninth parallel as the boundary, so as to leave the United States Oak Islands, near the Angle with valuable fishing and fur rights. The engineers went due south from the point where they were located to the forty-ninth parallel, which is about six miles out of Warroad on the lake. From there the boundary line goes directly west along that parallel until it intersects the Columbia river on the Pacific coast.

NOTRE DAME, THE CHAMPIONS

NOTRE DAME's victory over Stanford stamps the Irishmen as undisputed national champions. Credit must be given Rockne for every phase of the victory, shown first in careful preliminary work, the slow trip made westward so that sudden changes of climate would not affect his charges. And the nerve of the man! Sending in his second team at the startoff, and then like a baseball manager, taking out the recruits when they weakened and snapping in the incomparable first team with its four horsemen and seven corporals.

The quartet of horsemen get most of the glory, but like the sergeants in the world war, the corporals can carry on too. The first team ran rough shod over Stanford, thus gaining the mythical national title.

Central Western men, football fans attending the game, included Leon E. Lum, who got so "het up" over the game that he immediately wired the Brainerd Dispatch the final score.

The Stanford game comes as a fitting close to one of the most remarkable seasons of Notre Dame and stamps Rockne as a miracle worker in the handling of his men.

LICENSE TO TRAP RABBITS

THERE is some confusion in this vicinity in regard to the taking of rabbits. Many are now hunting or taking these little animals in direct violation of the state law.

A license is required to hunt rabbits and another license to trap them, says the county auditor. These licenses cost residents of the state $1 each and a person must carry them at all times while hunting or trapping.

The law states that "Varying hare or snow shoe rabbits may be taken from October 15th to March 1st following, both inclusive, and when so taken may be bought, sold and possessed at any time. The use of nets, bags, traps, or similar contrivances in hunting rabbits with ferrets is hereby prohibited."

CHRISTIANSON'S MESSAGE

GOVERNOR-ELECT CHRISTIANSON has finished writing his inaugural message and like that of President Coolidge, the keynote will be economy. The message is to be in strict conformity with the economy platform, and its reading will be awaited with interest.

Herman E. Samuelson has been named executive clerk to the governor. He has had much experience in that capacity with three preceding governors.

THE 1925 issue of automobile license plates is now ready for delivery. The new tags are most attractive ones. The class A and class B plates for pleasure vehicles will have an aluminum background with black numbers.

"THE coming generation is enthusiastic. I welcome the enthusiasm of inexperience," says Dr. Matthews, "because it is hard to be enthusiastic after you have had experience."

SEVERAL were killed in New Year's celebrations. Mixing guns and drinks don't pan out well. As is usually the case, innocent bystanders were generally the targets.

THE governors-elect of Wyoming and Texas are just now concerned over the gowns they will wear at the ceremonies when they become chief executives in fact.

THE state of Minnesota, officially considered, did a $100,000,000 business last year. Quite a corporation and we're all stockholders in the institution.

Now that we know what Notre Dame can do to Stanford, the next sport matter of moment to settle is Nurmi's ability as an indoor runner.

MIKE O'DOWD seems to have taken in too much territory when he battled with three prohibition agents.

"SILENT" AUCTION METHOD

Method Used in Clearance Sale Instituted by H. F. Michael Company

Auctions are popular these days. The H. F. Michael Co. uses the "silent" auction method in their garment clearance sale about in their advertisement today. It is a new plan now tried out in Brainerd and doubtless will demand much interest.

The weeks following Christmas are used for clearance sales by many firms and present unusual opportunities for those who are economical. This is particularly true of garments—both men's and women's. Progressive firms do not carry garments from one season to another and sometimes take heavy losses to effect a clearance if they have many garments on hand at this time of the year.

THEATRE PARTY

FIRE THURSDAY

Threatened Building Occupied by Shoe Shop Just South of Lyceum Theatre

Fire on Thursday afternoon threatened the building occupied by the shoe shop just south of the Lyceum theatre on South Sixth street.

The flames started in the flat above the shoe shop, occupied by the proprietor of the shop. The blaze burned a hole in the floor before it was extinguished by the firemen. It is thought that kerosene leaked from the oil stove to the floor and ignited.

Kennedy-Branscum

Miss Mary Esther Branscum, of Berryville, Arkansas, and Alfred J. Kennedy, of Kimball, Minnesota, were united in marriage at 4 o'clock New Year's afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy P. Allison, 617 South Sixth street, Rev. E. A. Cooke of the Methodist church performing the ceremony.

The bride has the past two years been a teacher in the city schools of Cass Lake. The groom who is a nephew of Mrs. Allison, is conducting a jewelry store at Kimball where the newly-weds will make their home after a short honeymoon trip.

Johnston-Sorenson

Mrs. Martha Sorenson, of Merrifield, and Robert Johnston, of Brainerd, were married at the J. M. Hayes home, 1022 South Seventh street, at 2:30 o'clock New Year's afternoon. Rev. A. G. Patterson, of the Presbyterian church performing the ceremony in the presence of only immediate friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnston will make their home at 519 League Avenue, Northeast.

Evangelical Church Services Tonight

Services this evening in the Evangelical church. This evening there will be preaching services in the Evangelical church N. E. This service will begin at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. C. B. Frank will be here and have charge of the services and conduct the quarterly conference business meeting at the close of the same. Let all members of this body plan to be present. The choir will meet in the church at 7 o'clock sharp, for practice.

Card of Thanks

To the many friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us at the time of the death of our beloved son and brother, we extend our heartfelt thanks. To those who so freely gave sympathy, floral offerings and in every way assisted, we are very thankful.

PRES. REA ASKS FAIR TREATMENT FOR RAILROADS

tions are no longer in an unsettled state.

"The railroads gave a remarkable exhibition in increased efficiency both in 1923 and 1924, yet the railroad business of the country for the first nine months of 1924 showed a decrease of 8.9 per cent in net ton-miles over the same period in 1923. What is more, serious is that the property investment, represented by railroad and equipment, material and supplies, and working capital of the class I railroads of the country, which are owned by the citizens and their institutions, representing over $21,500,000,000 of investment earned a return only at the rate of 4.21 per cent per annum in those nine months.

Blame Miners' Wages

"Among the reasons for the lack of greater traffic in 1924 has been the heavy falling off of soft coal traffic, caused by fixing the scale of union wages so high in the Pennsylvania and other soft coal fields that they could not compete with the non-union fields. As a result very many men in the coal field did not have regular employment and the railroad traffic on many roads in the eastern district suffered accordingly. This has been another factor affecting stabilization of railroad employment and service.

"If the 5 3-4 per cent rate of return on the property investment of the railroads allowed under the Transportation Act had been realized in 1923, the railroads would have had nearly $300,000,000 more to apply to the improvement of their property, so as to give better service and stabilize their credit."

The horizon for 1925 is viewed by the railroads in no pessimistic attitude, Rea said. He pointed out, however, that the above facts must be taken into consideration and also the country must realize that personal and government economy—city, state and federal—is essential and tax reduction a pressing necessity. Then foreign competition and crops must find a place in the 1925 picture in determining whether to forecast good result.

"However," he continued, "the conditions are all set as far as we can now see them, so that the year 1925 should show an improvement in industry and traffic over 1924, and assuming fair legislative treatment for the railroads and avoidance of rate tinkering and with satisfactory labor conditions generally, that improvement should be realized.

"Railroad consolidations are on the horizon. With the opportunity for fair earnings and with encouragement from a legislative and regulatory standpoint, those natural consolidations that the one railroad to another should proceed, always remembering the danger of paper-made or legislative-made artificial groupings.

"On this subject it is well to remember there exists in the United States about 22 naturally formed systems which now perform approximately 85 per cent of the railroad transportation service of the country and receive a corresponding proportion of the gross earnings. The general trend and policy of railroad consolidation ought to be to tie the various remaining lines into these important systems. This can be done without closing traffic gateways or causing such a rupture of natural trade and financial channels, with resulting confusion and disturbance to commerce, as would wipe out the benefits otherwise to be expected. Railroad consolidation has always gone on rather actively when the laws permitted and earnings were favorable, and it will do so again."

Cobb Defends Rotary Clubs Against Attacks of Intellectual Critics

Paducah, Ky., Jan. 2.—Irvin Cobb defended the Rotary club and similar organizations against the attacks of "those literary bad boys of the East, generally known as the younger intellectuals," in an informal talk to Paducah Rotarians yesterday.

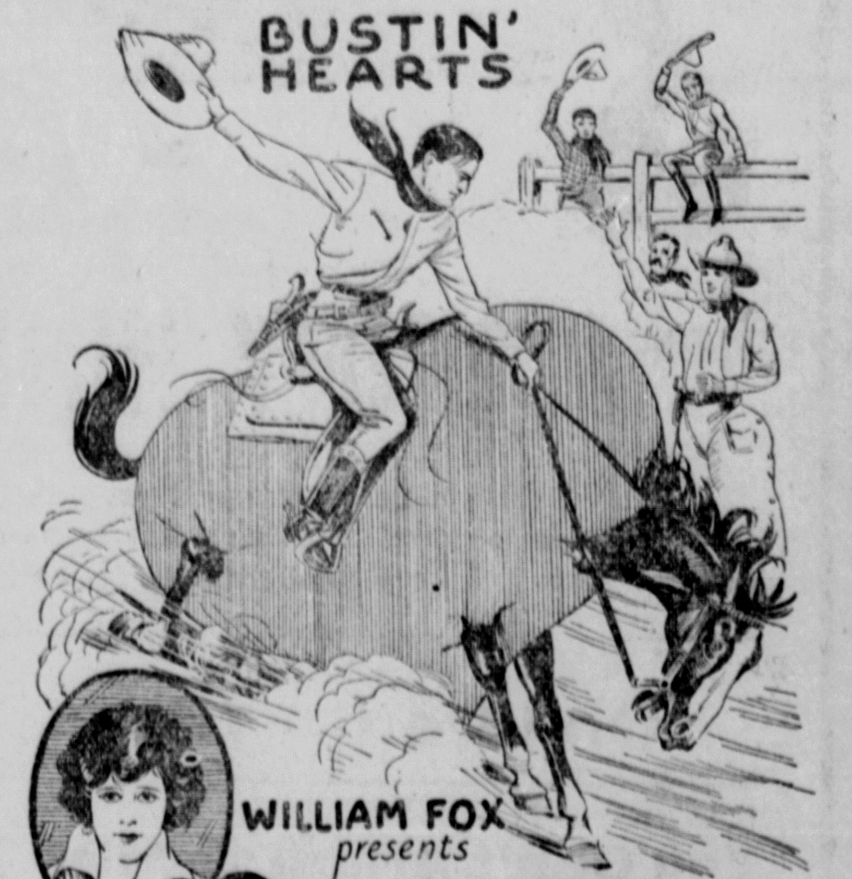

The humorist, an honorary member of the Paducah Rotary club, entered an objection to the aspersions of "provincial" which he said, "these self-appointed superior minds so industriously cast at Rotary and other American business men's luncheon clubs."

"In my travels about the country," said Mr. Cobb, "it has been my good fortune to acquire considerable acquaintance with the Rotary and other clubs, and I should like to say that for good fellowship, for honest, successful, worthy endeavor for their various communal groups, there are no organizations which surpass the Rotary and similar clubs. I want to say that I am proud to belong to the Rotary even in the more or less detached capacity of honorary member."

"However," he continued, "the conditions are all set as far as we can now see them, so that the year 1925 should show an improvement in industry and traffic over 1924, and assuming fair legislative treatment for the railroads and avoidance of rate tinkering and with satisfactory labor conditions generally, that improvement should be realized.

"Railroad consolidations are on the horizon. With the opportunity for fair earnings and with encouragement from a legislative and regulatory standpoint, these natural consolidations that tie one railroad to another should proceed, always remembering the danger of paper-made or legislative-made artificial groupings.

"On this subject it is well to remember there exists in the United States about 22 naturally formed systems which now perform approximately 85 per cent of the railroad transportation service of the country and receive a corresponding proportion of the gross earnings. The general trend and policy of railroad consolidation ought to be to tie the various remaining lines into these important systems. This can be done without closing traffic gateways or causing such a rupture of natural trade and financial channels, with resulting confusion and disturbance to commerce, as would wipe out the benefits otherwise to be expected. Railroad consolidation has always gone on rather actively when the laws permitted and earnings were favorable, and it will do so again."

Cobb Defends Rotary Clubs Against Attacks of Intellectual Critics

Paducah, Ky., Jan. 2.—Irvin Cobb defended the Rotary club and similar organizations against the attacks of "those literary bad boys of the East, generally known as the younger intellectuals," in an informal talk to Paducah Rotarians yesterday.

The humorist, an honorary member of the Paducah Rotary club, entered an objection to the aspersions of "provincial" which he said, "these self-appointed superior minds so industriously cast at Rotary and other American business men's luncheon clubs."

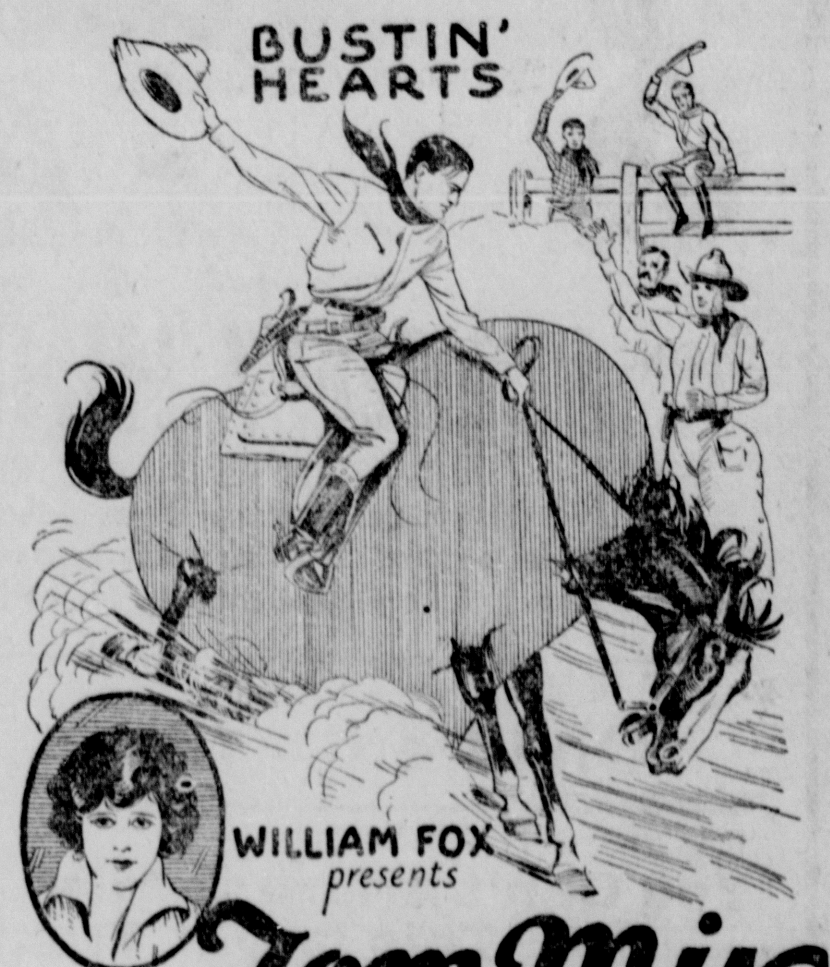

"In my travels about the country," said Mr. Cobb, "it has been my good fortune to acquire considerable acquaintance with the Rotary and other clubs, and I should like to say that for good fellowship, for honest, successful, worthy endeavor for their various communal groups, there are no organizations which surpass the Rotary and similar clubs. I want to say that I am proud to belong to the Rotary even in the more or less detached capacity of honorary member."

Son's Failure Led to Lincoln's Great Effort

James L. Ford, in "Forty-odd Years in the Literary Shop," tells that when he was five years old children began to hear from the lips of their elders mention of a man named Lincoln, whose speech in Cooper Union hall, New York, provoked much discussion. Many years after Mr. Ford chanced to learn that this speech, whose consequences were so far reaching, was the result of his son's failure to pass a scholastic examination.

Robert T. Lincoln had come from his Illinois farm with the intention of entering Harvard college and had failed in his examinations, says the Detroit News. His father was much distressed and, though money was by no means plentiful with him, he determined to go to the boy's assistance, and accordingly made the journey to Cambridge.

While there one of the committee then arranging for the great Cooper Union meeting, suggested the propriety of inviting Mr. Lincoln, whom he had once listened to in the West, to address the assembly and the invitation was promptly sent. So little was Mr. Lincoln then known in the East that William Cullen Bryant, the presiding officer, introduced him in the following words:

"We shall next have the pleasure of hearing from Mr. Abraham Lincoln of Illinois, of whom some of you have undoubtedly heard." There were indeed some present who had heard of Lincoln and his championship of abolition and for several minutes a storm of howls and hisses prevented him from speaking. He finally did speak, and that speech placed the Presidential nomination in the hollow of his hand.

Better Than Average

Mayor Lamm of Schenectady, N. Y., said at a luncheon:

"The machine candidate, the machine politician—why do we always support him?"

"A machine candidate got elected to the senate. Six months went by. Then John Citizen met one morning the boss who had put the machine candidate up."

"Senator Swank," sneered John Citizen, "promised us great things if we'd elect him, but what's he done? I ask you—what's he done?"

"What's he done?" yelled the boss. "Why, he's got himself made special counsel for the railroad trust, the light trust and the food trust; he's bought himself a town house and a country seat, and he's started in collecting old masters. That's what he's done, darn it—and all in six months, too!"—Los Angeles Times.

Progress

"When I was learning my trade I served for a time in the German army," a Detroit barber remarked as he tapped his closed scissors. "They let me practice on the other soldiers. All were young men. I did my biggest day's shaving once when I cleaned 150 faces of stubble beards. I hired a boy to do the lathering, and I gentled my customers in the chairs. Then the latherer prepared the faces, and I started. Every man had to wash his own face, and none got any bay rum, or any pampering. You see I was paid only a few pennings for the shave. With one good customer today I make many times what I got from the whole 150."

Beautiful and Historic

A project is afoot to make Blackwood bay on the west coast of Ireland a big trans-Atlantic port; with a view to shortening the time between British and Canadian and American ports. If this scheme materializes travelers arriving there will be repaid by some of the finest scenery in the British Isles, since they will pass close to Achill island, with its wild mountains and magnificent sea precipices. A little farther north in Killybegs bay General Humbert landed in 1798 with 1,000 French troops, and proclaimed the French republic, marching afterward to Castlebar and taking possession of the town.

"All's Right With World"

Nearly every man believes the world is going to the devil, and that the next few years will show great changes. . . . And all are mistaken; the world will carry on in future as usual, with a few changes and improvements men learn from experience. History records a few violent changes but in each case the people didn't like the change, and went back to the old, tiresome, but safer conditions. . . . Base the next twenty years on the twenty years you have lived and know about, and you will be right.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

Magic

The subject under discussion by the grownups was Douglas Fairbanks in "The Thief of Bagdad." They were commenting on the magic carpet, particularly, and how well done were the mechanical effects of the picture. The little daughter had seen the picture, also.

"Well, I wish I had a carpet like that," she said. "I'd just say 'Whif' and my 'rithmetic lessons would be all done.'—Indianapolis News.

Educational Obstructions

"Why are you wrangling over a new schoolhouse for Crimmon Gulch? There are no youngsters in the community." "That's as it should be," answered Cactus Joe. "We're workin' for the future, and so long as the board of education keeps fightin' the way it does we may as well admit the town ain't no place for children."

A perfect bill of fare served up in the most entertaining manner possible can be ordered by all film fans tonight, provided they do their ordering at the New Park Theatre where Johnny Hines is on view in the funniest, fastest and most exciting photoplay we have seen in many a blue moon.

"The Early Bird" deals with the fame to fortune rise of a milkman, who falling in love with the girl of his dreams, decides to get somewhere in life before he asks her for her hand. Then starts a series of clever stunts and action that carries "The Early Bird" along breathlessly on the wings of entertainment and drama to a highly satisfactory conclusion. The manner in which Johnny Hines accomplishes his ends is truly amusing and we must say decidedly entertaining. To see "The Early Bird" it's our guess that you'll have to be an early bird yourself since the attendant crowd hovering about the New Park gives every evidence that "The Early Bird" is an honest-to-goodness screen hit. Cattle Stampede Photoplay Actors

A stampede of four thousand cattle, filmed at great risk to the players and under strange circumstances, forms one of the many thrilling episodes in "The Eagle's Feather," the Metro picturization of Katharine Newlin Burt's famous story of the same name, showing at the New Park Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

The stampede was filmed in the vicinity of Convict Lake located in the high Sierras above the little town of Bishop on the border line between California and Nevada. Great cattle ranches sprawl for hundreds of miles through this beautiful valley and here millions of cattle are rounded up several times during the year and sent to the slaughter houses through the Middle West.

Free Lance Writer Makes "Lance-a-Lot Dainties"

MISS Katherine Sprochnle, one of the many young feminine Lochinvars who came out of the West to win success in New York, is one of the few who have found success eager to court her. Already in the short time that has elapsed since she was a Chicago newspaper woman, she has achieved recognition in New York as a free lance writer and her articles appear frequently in the leading magazines.

Since she is a very versatile young woman, her little impromptu suppers to her group of intimates are the more delightful because she herself prepares them. One of her favorite dishes she has christened, as befits an energetic free lance writer, "Lance-a-lot Dainties." She shares her recipe with us:

1 cupful Flour
1/2 cupful Crisco
1/2 cupful Water
4 Eggs
1/2 teaspoonful Salt

Put Crisco and water into small saucepan, bring to boil, add quickly flour and salt, stir well with wooden spoon until mixture leaves sides of pan, remove from fire, allow to cool but not become cold, add eggs, beating each one thoroughly in. Turn mixture on to well greased plate add divide into small puffs or cakes. Put on greased tins and bake a golden brown in hot oven, thirty minutes. These puffs may be filled with preserves, custard or savory mixtures. The quantities given are sufficient for thirty puffs. Note—Our readers may obtain free a new 80 page cook book by addressing the National Cooking Service, 565 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

WRITERS DIFFER ON REAL "ROUGHNECK"

One Explanation Does Not
Seem to Satisfy.

The Klondike poet, Robert W. Service, who has a prodigious reputation among American university graduates, hundreds of whom can quote pages and pages of his verse, has finally launched a work of prose fiction, called "The Roughneck."

I have often meditated on the origin of that word, and the paper jacket, which incidentally is full of other interesting information, gives Mr. Service's explanation: "I think the origin of 'The Roughneck' dates back to the time when to shave the back of one's neck was a sign of sartorial grace. In my early Alaskan days every barber would ask you if you wanted a 'neck shave,' and not to have one put you in the category of those who were indifferent to their appearance, or too unsophisticated to conform to the fashion of the day. You were a man with hair on his neck; in brief, a roughneck. The fashion soon passed, but the expression remains."

Now when I was a boy, my virgin aunt, who, like all virgin aunts, knew far more about the world and was far more in sympathy with it than one's mother, said to me emphatically: "Don't you ever allow any barber to shave the back of your neck." She knew. Whatever may later have been the reversed dynamics in Alaska, she knew that a man whose neck was shaved was outside of the pale of polite society.

I was particularly interested in Mr. Service's explanation, for during the last 20 years in these United States, my observation proves just the opposite. I have never seen a genuine tough who did not have the back of his neck shaved. And I divide all barbers into two classes—those who, without asking you, attempt to shave the back of your neck, and those who would no more perpetrate such a monstrosity than they would shave off your ears.

It is, as Barrie's policeman would say, a test absolutely "infallible." No New York or Boston barber has ever done any necking on me; but in every small town, west of Buffalo, unless I am alert, I get a large dose of lather under the cerebellum.

But how in the world did Aunt Libbie know this test 45 years ago? That was some time before Mr. Service was born.—William Lyon Phelps in Scribner's Magazine.

Who Am I?

I have scattered bread crumbs, egg shells and paper plates from the Rio Grande to the Great Lakes. I have hacked trees and broken down farmers' fences from coast to coast.

I have hooked peaches from a Georgia orchard and pecans in southern California, apples from the beautiful Genesee valley in New York and cantaloupes from a Colorado truck patch.

I have thrown tin cans into the Grand canyon and empty bottles into Niagara's roaring tumult.

I have seen all, heard all and in my weak way have managed to destroy much.

I am the American tourist.—Blaine C. Bigler in Judge.

Athletics for Babies

A gymnasium for babies has been opened in Berlin by a former physical instructor in a Potsdam military school. "Every six-months-old baby should do five to ten minutes' daily exercise with its mother or nurse," said the instructor. "If my advice were followed, the appalling number of cripples in this country would be greatly diminished. Regular graduated exercises ensure harmonious development, correct posture, and firm bones." The gymnasium, with its furnishings of miniature swings, ladders and bars, is for the professor's older pupils—that is, those from eighteen months to five years old.

The Reason Why

There is an excellent reason why electric service companies build their steam-driven generating stations on the shore of a river, lake, bay or harbor. For every pound of coal burned in the furnaces of such stations, nearly a half ton of water is needed to condense the steam produced after it has passed through the turbine which turns the electric dynamo. At one such steam-operated electric generating station in the South all of the water of a sizable river is diverted from the river bed and passes over the condensing pipes of the plant's boilers.

New Safety Lamp

The United States bureau of mines has approved a new type of electric safety lamp for miners, which produces three times as much light as previous types, while the battery and lamp together weigh but a third as much as the older designs. A special lamp is used and if it is broken electricity from the two-cell alkaline battery is automatically cut off.

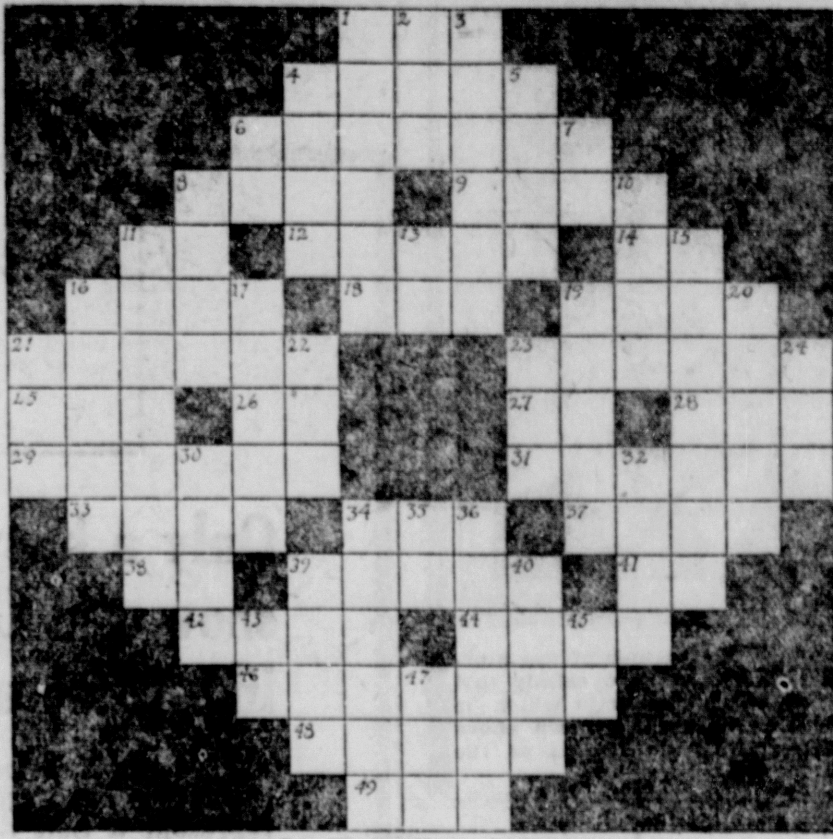

Cooling Big Limer

An idea of the enormous amount of coal carried by the giant ocean liner may be gained from the fact that 300 men working from four to four and one-half days are required to coal the Olympic.

Health Note

An apple a day, if it is of the size of some of these modern varieties, ought to keep two doctors away.—Boston Transcript.

Kitchener's Forewarning

I have read, or been told, a curious story that, inspecting the trenches, K. of K. exposed himself too much, being a tall man. They told him he would probably be shot. He replied: "Not likely. I was told some time ago my end would be to be drowned at sea." Curious that it should come true.—Rear Admiral Eardley-Wilmot, in Nineteenth Century.

WRITERS DIFFER ON REAL "ROUGHNECK"

One Explanation Does Not
Seem to Satisfy.

The Klondike poet, Robert W. Service, who has a prodigious reputation among American university graduates, hundreds of whom can quote pages and pages of his verse, has finally launched a work of prose fiction, called "The Roughneck."

I have often meditated on the origin of that word, and the paper jacket, which incidentally is full of other interesting information, gives Mr. Service's explanation: "I think the origin of 'The Roughneck' dates back to the time when to shave the back of one's neck was a sign of sartorial grace. In my early Alaskan days every barber would ask you if you wanted a 'neck shave,' and not to have one put you in the category of those who were indifferent to their appearance, or too unsophisticated to conform to the fashion of the day. You were a man with hair on his neck; in brief, a roughneck. The fashion soon passed, but the expression remains."

Now when I was a boy, my virgin aunt, who, like all virgin aunts, knew far more about the world and was far more in sympathy with it than one's mother, said to me emphatically: "Don't you ever allow any barber to shave the back of your neck." She knew. Whatever may later have been the reversed dynamics in Alaska, she knew that a man whose neck was shaved was outside of the pale of polite society.

I was particularly interested in Mr. Service's explanation, for during the last 20 years in these United States, my observation proves just the opposite. I have never seen a genuine tough who did not have the back of his neck shaved. And I divide all barbers into two classes—those who, without asking you, attempt to shave the back of your neck, and those who would no more perpetrate such a nonstrosity than they would shave off your ears.

It is, as Barrie's policeman would say, a test absolutely "infallible." No New York or Boston barber has ever done any necking on me; but in every small town west of Buffalo, unless I am alert, I get a large dose of latter under the cerebellum.

But how in the world did Aunt Libbie know this test 45 years ago? That was some time before Mr. Service was born.—William Lyon Phelps in Scribner's Magazine.

Who Am I?

I have scattered bread crumbs, egg shells and paper plates from the Rio Grande to the Great Lakes. I have hacked trees and broken down farmers' fences from coast to coast.

I have hooked peaches from a Georgia orchard and pecans in southern California, apples from the beautiful Genesee valley in New York and cantaloupes from a Colorado truck patch.

I have thrown tin cans into the Grand canyon and empty bottles into Niagara's roaring tumult.

I have seen all, heard all and in my weak way have managed to destroy much.

I am the American tourist.—Blaine C. Bigler in Judge.

Athletics for Babies

A gymnasium for babies has been opened in Berlin by a former physical instructor in a Potsdam military school. "Every six-months-old baby should do five to ten minutes' daily exercise with its mother or nurse," said the instructor. "If my advice were followed, the appalling number of cripples in this country would be greatly diminished. Regular graduated exercises ensure harmonious development, correct posture, and firm bones." The gymnasium, with its furnishings of miniature swings, ladders and bars, is for the professor's older pupils—that is, those from eighteen months to five years old.

The Reason Why

There is an excellent reason why electric service companies build their steam-driven generating stations on the shore of a river, lake, bay or harbor. For every pound of coal burned in the furnaces of such stations, nearly a half ton of water is needed to condense the steam produced after it has passed through the turbine which turns the electric dynamo. At one such steam-operated electric generating station in the South all of the water of a sizable river is diverted from the river bed and passes over the condensing pipes of the plant's boilers.

New Safety Lamp

The United States bureau of mines has approved a new type of electric safety lamp for miners, which produces three times as much light as previous types, while the battery and lamp together weigh but a third as much as the older designs. A special lamp is used and if it is broken electricity from the two-cell alkaline battery is automatically cut off.

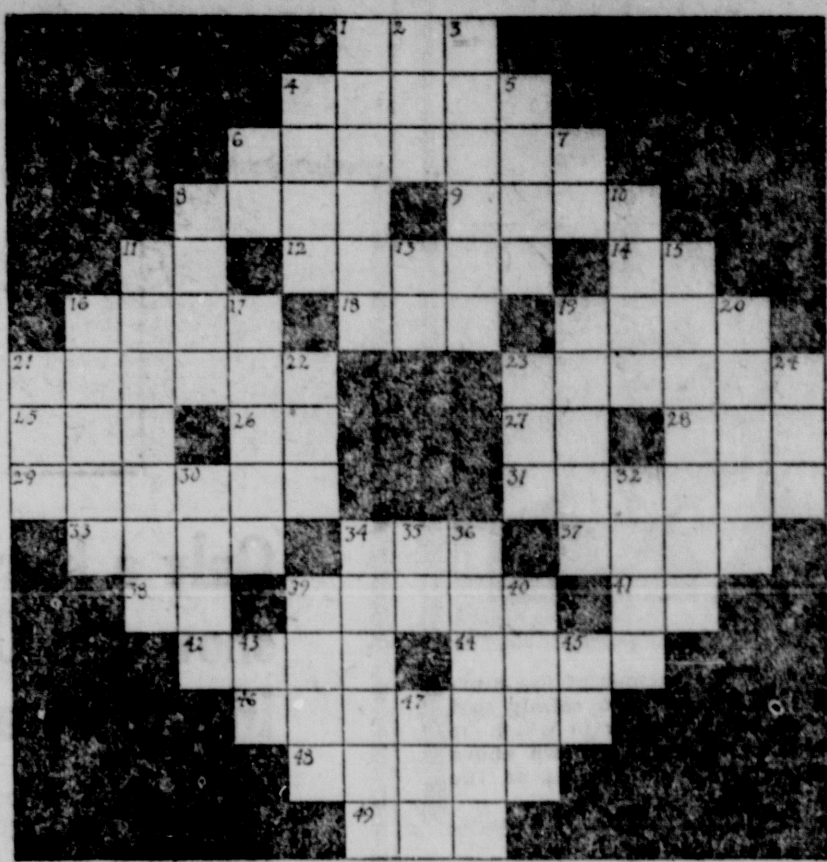

Coaling Big Liner

An idea of the enormous amount of coal carried by the giant ocean liner may be gained from the fact that 300 men working from four to four and one-half days are required to coal the Olympic.

JAMISON JUDGE OF PROBATE CONTEST CASE

DRAWS LARGE CROWD AT HEARING HELD IN WALKER

JUDGE WATTS OF CROOKSTON IS PRESIDING ON THE BENCH

(From Walker Pilot)

Walker, Jan. 2.—Thronged filled the court room Tuesday to watch the conclusion of ouster proceedings brought by Judge of Probate Jamison against his successful rival, Frank N. Whitney who defeated him by 552 votes at the recent election. Mr. Jamison based his complaint on a preferred violation of the corrupt practice act by Mr. Whitney.

The court hearing was held before Judge William Watts of Crookston who was determined to conduct the hearing with due dignity and decorum. Only on two occasions was it necessary to demand order and the last was a threat to clear the court room if further expression by the audience was shown.

So tense was the interest that several did not go home for lunch. The judge is a driver and kept the argument moving from 9 o'clock until 12 without a recess. At 1:30 court was re-opened continuing until six o'clock with one recess of ten minutes which was requested by one of the attorneys. A night session followed.

Three of the most brilliant attorneys in this section of the state are conducting the case. Mr. Whitney is represented by Graham M. Torrance of Bemidji and Daniel DeLury of Walker while M. E. Ryan of Brainerd appears for Mr. Jamison. Many witnesses have been subpoenaed, including John L. Morrison, editor of the Duluth Rip Saw. So many legal technicalities are fought over by the attorneys that the average mortal wonders what it is all about. On top of it all a lot of side issues apparently very remote from the main issue crops out which is especially interesting to the spectators.

Mr. Whitney was the first witness called. His testimony was to the effect that he has been given a certificate of election which entitled him to take office Jan. 5th. The witness admitted sending the letter and affidavit on which the complaint was based, 3,500 copies of which were distributed in the county just prior to election. He also told of securing a mailing list from the auditor's office and gave a list to Mr. Michaels who wished it to mail campaign material in Mr. Whitney's behalf.

Mr. Whitney testified that he received a letter from Mr. Morrison in which the latter asked if Whitney would send 25 to send copies of the Rip Saw to Cass county. Mr. Whitney answered, declining to pay any money. He said he first prepared a blunt letter to Morrison but later tempered its tone and wrote a more friendly letter, as he was afraid Morrison would turn on him.

He advised Mr. Michel against sending any articles in his behalf or against Mr. Jamison to the Rip Saw for publication. Witness claimed that among other stories circulated there was one to the effect that his wife was a Catholic and he would send all children coming before him to Catholic schools. Michael wanted to disprove this story by publishing facts in the Duluth Rip Saw but Whitney urged against this course as he did not wish assistance of the paper.

Rev. Geo. Michael was the next witness. He had been a resident of the village for twenty-five years, had been in the ministry forty-five years but at the present time was retired on a pension. He is eighty-two years of age. He testified that he was active in the campaign in behalf of Mr. Whitney. He had planned on getting out a circular in his behalf but along the latter part of September he was convinced Mr. Whitney would sweep the county by at least 1500 votes so dropped the plan. Several letters were produced by the plaintiff written by Mr. Michael to Mr. Morrison. He admitted the authorship of them all but admitted that one of the statements made was false. This statement was to the effect that Mr. Whitney had agreed to Mr. Morrison's demand for a payment of $125 in case he was elected to pay for the distribution of copies of the Rip Saw in Cass county.

The witness stated that Mr. Whitney did not know half of what he was doing. Witness had sent in the first articles against Mr. Jamison that were published in the Rip Saw. Morrison wanted $125 for their distribution. Whitney advised against sending anything to that paper and refused to pay the money or any of the amount demanded. Witness declined if he informed Morrison of Whitney's arbitrary attitude he would turn on Whitney and his goat would be coked so he felt that a false statement of this kind was perfectly justifiable as a means to an end. The witness was bitter against Mr. Jamison as he knew that gentleman had been the means of having him retired as minister of the local parish about five years ago. The aged minister felt that by aiding in the defeat of Judge Jamison he was in the right and to carry his point it was necessary to resort to deception in writing to Mr. Morrison and felt fully justified in so doing.

Judge Jamison was called to the stand and denied preventing the marriage of Emma Lambert, now Mrs. Anderson.

Mrs. Anderson testified that at the age of sixteen years she had trouble with one Chas. Brandall of St. Paul. They came home to her parents and after a family consultation thought best to marry. The girl's father, Alfred Lambert, came to Walker to secure a marriage license but returned with a warrant for the arrest of Brandall instead. The girl did not wish to marry Brandall but her father advised that it would be the best thing to do as it would give their child a name, however, witness testified that the father did not insist she marry the man. After prosecution had been instituted witness testified that Judge Jamison advised her she did not have to marry Brandall.

R. A. Oliver testified to a conversation with Mr. Whitney prior to election in which the Rip Saw articles were discussed. In reply to a query as to who sent in the articles, witness testified that Mr. Whitney stated he was satisfied who wrote the articles but did not think they would materially influence the issue either way. Oliver suggested that some publicity might aid him but that too much might be dangerous.

John L. Morrison was called as a witness for Mr. Jamison and identified several copies of his paper carrying articles against Mr. Jamison which were his words but the data had been sent in by Mr. Michael.

The article contained in one issue unfavorable to Mr. Jamison came to the office without a signature. He surmised it was sent by Mr. Whitney but could not swear to that as he had no way of knowing although it came in the same mail that brought the mailing list. This was a typewritten copy. He had received but one letter sent by Mr. Whitney which was the letter in which Whitney refused to pay the $125. This payment asked, he explained, was simply a nominal sum as a matter of good faith. Morrison was asked a number of pointed questions by the attorney for the defendant concerning the activities of his attorney, Chas. Schrutchin in conferring with Mr. Jamison, Mr. Lambert and Mr. Ryan quite recently, but witness testified that his case was in the hands of his attorneys and their activities were not generally known to him.

Alfred Lambert, alleged author of the affidavit which was circulated by Mr. Whitney furnished the information in the article in the Rip Saw which was issued just prior to election, was called for the defense. He is the father of thirteen living children and has been a resident of the county since 1885. His testimony opened with a review of his dealings with Judge Jamison as they affected two of his daughters who had gotten into trouble at an early age. One daughter came home with Chas. Brandall from St. Paul. The girl was sixteen and they had decided to marry to rectify a mistake. Lambert had made inquiries, according to his testimony, and found Brandall a man capable of giving his daughter a good home. This was during April, 1921. Arrangements were made for the wedding, wedding trousseau purchased at Brainerd and a minister engaged. Lambert came to Walker to get the license thinking the age of consent was less than 18 years but learned differently at Walker. Just previous to this time the girl decided she did not wish to marry Brandall but after another consultation and on the advice of her father she decided to marry in order to give the child a name. If she could not live with Brandall the father informed her she could live at home. At Walker witness testified that Mr. Jamison advised against the marriage on account of her youth, that he, Jamison, had jurisdiction of all children under age in the county and it was his place to prosecute in case of abuse and that it would be abusing the girl to marry her to this man at her tender age. Said she would have to live with Brandall if she married him, and advised that he have Brandall arrested. Witness testified that County Attorney Rogers and the sheriff advised him to go ahead with the marriage but he did not want to be prosecuted by Jamison for trying to take care of his own children so signed a petition to have Brandall arrested. Instead of coming home with the marriage license he rode out with the sheriff and told Brandall the case had been taken out of his hands. Brandall was arrested and the matter was adjusted by Brandall being ordered to pay $15 per month for the support of the child. This was done for three months when payment stopped and later Brandall was arrested and remained in the county jail for six months. He was then let out and has since kept up his payments. Later another daughter came to grief at the age of sixteen and the witness testified that Mr. Jamison advised sending the girl to the school for girls at Sauk Centre, that if the parents would sign the petition the girl would be returned home after the baby was 3 months of age. This induced the parents to sign the petition but when 3 months were up Mr. Jamison did not take action to have the girl returned to her home. Several meetings were held with Mr. Jamison and the last terminated by both losing their tempers. At the primary election Lambert was after Jamison's scalp and worked for the candidacy of A. A. Oliver. Later he took up the cause of Mr. Whitney during the fall election and wanted to place the facts in his case before the voters of Cass county through the columns of the Rip Saw but Mr. Whitney vehemently advised against such action. On his own authority he sent a story to the Rip Saw. The editor wired him to come to Duluth, expenses paid, to verify the statements. The witness acknowledged signing affidavit before A. O. Miller, Notary Public at Backus. Copies of this affidavit were circulated by Mr. Whitney just prior to the election.

At the evening session Mrs. Lambert was called and testified when Ruth was sent to Sauk Centre, Mr. Jamison promised her and her husband that the girl would be released three months after the baby was born and that when the time was up both she and her husband applied to Mr. Jamison for the girl's release and that he promised from time to time that the girl would soon be released and the last time she spoke to him about it was over the telephone and he hung up the receiver.

Frank N. Whitney testified as to repeated conversations with Lambert in which Lambert told him about the trouble he had with Jamison in connection with the cases of his daughters, Ruth and Emma. Mr. Jamison testified as to his conversations with Mr. and Mrs. Lambert, denied most of their stories and told her he acted for best interests of the two girls.

At the conclusion of the testimony the court stated that he was ready to give his decision on certain important features of the case but Mr. Ryan asked time to file a brief. Time was then granted for filing briefs, the contestant being given until Jan. 17th, and the contestee fifteen days thereafter, and the contestant 10 days after that.

In the meantime Frank N. Whitney, being in possession of the certificate of election, will take office until such time as Judge Watts hands down a decision in the matter. The outcome cannot be conjectured at the present time. Attorneys on both sides express confidence.

FROM "QUIVVER TO FLIVVER"

ONE OF FEW INDIAN BLACKSMITHS WORKS IN GLACIER PARK RESERVATION

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2.—First One is one of the few Indian blacksmiths of the red race. He is a full blood Blackfoot, 53 years of age, and he works daily at his forge in Browning, Mont., the agency town of the Glacier National Park Reservation.

First One never went to school but he studied nights and learned the "three R's" while serving his apprenticeship as a blacksmith. He makes nearly everything that can be pounded out of red-hot iron. His chief source of living comes from repairing farming implements, since so many of the Glacier Park Indians took up farming, and he also shoes the Indians' farm horses.

During the last few years he has had to learn what's under an automobile hood and the journey from "quiver to flivver" was a long shot for this Indian blacksmith to take. However, no automobile tourist need be hung up long for repairs when they break down on the Glacier Park Reservation, for First One now has an "Auto Repair" sign swinging beneath the huge wooden horseshoe over his door.

After a trial that aroused all Germany because of the revolting nature of the crimes, Haarman, known as the arch-murderer of Hanover, was sentenced to die by the axe, as was Grantz, his ac-

Birds Constantly at Work for Humanity

In a new country where the natural conditions of plant and animal life are changed, the balance of nature is likely to be upset. The value of bird life is perhaps greater in checking a plague in its incipient stage.

In parts of the Middle West there were serious outbreaks of the Rocky mountain locust or grasshopper many years ago, says Nature Magazine of Washington, D. C. Prof. Aughey of the University of Nebraska carried on a series of observations showing that the birds of these localities were helping a great deal to check the insect numbers.

Thrushes, kinglets, chickadees, nuthatches, warblers, vireos, swallows, crows, bluejays, blackbirds, kingfishers, cuckoos, woodpeckers, hawks, owls, pigeons, grouse, quail, gulls, and even humming birds and water birds had all taken to eating locusts.

Fifty-one locusts were taken from the stomach of a single yellow-headed blackbird. A tiny ruby-throated humming bird had four small locusts in its stomach. Six robins had eaten 205 locusts. Sixty-seven locusts were found in the stomachs of three bluebirds, and one little ruby-crowned kinglet had eaten 20. Many of these and other birds were feeding their young on locusts.

One barn owl had eaten 39 locusts. Five screech owls had eaten 219 locusts. Six of the nine burrowing owls had eaten an average of more than fifty locusts each, the magazine article concludes. Hawks, as a class, were scarcely less active, for of the eleven species listed as having been examined by him, five were found to have eaten locusts.

A grasshopper pest in southern Oregon was something like the plague of grasshoppers that came upon the early Mormon settlers in Utah during the summer of 1848. The crops of the Mormons were partly saved by the great flocks of gulls that came in and settled over the fields, gorging themselves on the insects.

Chinese Societies

Chinese tongs are organizations, with an element of secrecy, of groups of Chinese for mutual protection and assistance. Basically, they are of a commercial character, the members being engaged in business, and they are thus rival trade associations. This rivalry occasionally breaks out into open warfare when aggressions by one tong against another, consisting of unfair commercial practices, boycotts, etc., gives the rival tong cause for offense. The tongs in the United States are branches of wider organizations, having their main headquarters in Shanghai and Peking, China, and branches exist in other nations besides the United States.

They All Talk

A young man talks with pleasure, and an old man talks with ease; an orator talks like some men walk—six days, go as you please.

The preacher talks of sins and things, of hell's eternal fury; the lawyer hurls his jawbones at a mad but helpless jury.

Thus each one talks and talks and talks, each of his own speech proud, forgetful of the patent fact that it's money that talks loudest.—A. P., Boston Transcript.

JAMISON JUDGE OF PROBATE CONTEST CASE

DRAWS LARGE CROWD AT HEARING HELD IN WALKER

JUDGE WATTS OF CROOKSTON IS PRESIDING ON THE BENCH

(From Walker Pilot)

Walker, Jan. 2.—Throngs filled the court room Tuesday to watch the conclusion of ouster proceedings brought by Judge of Probate Jamison against his successful rival, Frank N. Whitney who defeated him by 552 votes at the recent election. Mr. Jamison based his complaint on a preferred violation of the corrupt practice act by Mr. Whitney.

The court hearing was held before Judge William Watts of Crookston who was determined to conduct the hearing with due dignity and decorum. Only on two occasions was it necessary to demand order and the last was a threat to clear the court room if further expression by the audience was shown.

So tense was the interest that several did not go home for lunch. The judge is a driver and kept the argument moving from 9 o'clock until 12 without a recess. At 1:30 court was re-opened continuing until six o'clock with one recess of ten minutes which was requested by one of the attorneys. A night session followed.

Three of the most brilliant attorneys in this section of the state are conducting the case. Mr. Whitney is represented by Graham M. Torrance of Bemidji and Daniel DeLury of Walker while M. E. Ryan of Brainerd appears for Mr. Jamison. Many witnesses have been subpoenaed, including John L. Morrison, editor of the Duluth Rip Saw. So many legal technicalities are fought over by the attorneys that the average mortal wonders what it is all about. On top of it all a lot of side issues apparently very remote from the main issue crops out which is especially interesting to the spectators.

Mr. Whitney was the first witness called. His testimony was to the effect that he has been given a certificate of election which entitled him to take office Jan. 5th. The witness admitted sending the letter and affidavit on which the complaint was based, 3,500 copies of which were distributed in the county just prior to election. He also told of securing a mailing list from the auditor's office and gave a list to Mr. Michaels who wished it to mail campaign material in Mr. Whitney's behalf.

Mr. Whitney testified that he received a letter from Mr. Morrison in which the latter asked if Whitney would pay $125 to send copies of the Rip Saw into Cass county. Mr. Whitney answered, declining to pay any money. He said he first prepared a blunt letter to Morrison but later tempered its tone and wrote a more friendly letter, as he was afraid Morrison would turn on him.

He advised Mr. Michel against sending any articles in his behalf or against Mr. Jamison to the Rip Saw for publication. Witness claimed that among other stories circulated there was one to the effect that his wife was a Catholic and he would send all children coming before him to Catholic schools. Michael wanted to disprove this story by publishing facts in the Duluth Rip Saw but Whitney urged against this course as he did not wish assistance of the paper.

Rev. Geo. Michael was the next witness. He had been a resident of the village for twenty-five years, had been in the ministry forty-five years but at the present time was retired on a pension. He is eighty-two years of age. He testified that he was active in the campaign in behalf of Mr. Whitney. He had planned on getting out a circular in his behalf but along the latter part of September he was convinced Mr. Whitney would sweep the county by at least 1500 votes so dropped the plan. Several letters were produced by the plaintiff written by Mr. Michael to Mr. Morrison. He admitted the authorship of them all but admitted that one of the statements made was false. This statement was to the effect that Mr. Whitney had agreed to Mr. Morrison's demand for a payment of $125 in case he was elected to pay for the distribution of copies of the Rip Saw in Cass county.

The witness stated that Mr. Whitney did not know half of what he was doing. Witness had sent in the first articles against Mr. Jamison that were published in the Rip Saw. Morrison wanted $125 for their distribution. Whitney advised against sending anything to that paper and refused to pay the money or any of the amount demanded. Witness decided if he informed Morrison of Whitney's arbitrary attitude he would turn on Whitney and his goat would be coked so he felt that a false statement of this kind was perfectly justifiable as a means to an end. The witness was bitter against Mr. Jamison as he knew that gentleman had been the means of having him retired as minister of the local parish about five years ago. The aged minister felt that by aiding in the defeat of Judge Jamison he was in the right and to carry his point it was necessary to resort to deception in writing to Mr. Morrison and felt fully justified in so doing.

Judge Jamison was called to the stand and denied preventing the marriage of Emma Lambert, now Mrs. Anderson.

Mrs. Anderson testified that at the age of sixteen years she had trouble with one Chas. Brandall of St. Paul. They came home to her parents and after a family consultation thought best to marry. The girl's father, Alfred Lambert, came to Walker to secure a marriage license but returned with a warrant for the arrest of Brandall instead. The girl did not wish to marry Brandall but her father advised that it would be the best thing to do as it would give their child a name, however, witness testified that the father did not insist she marry the man. After prosecution had been instituted witness testified that Judge Jamison advised her she did not have to marry Brandall.

R. A. Oliver testified to a conversation with Mr. Whitney prior to election in which the Rip Saw articles were discussed. In reply to a query as to who sent in the articles, witness testified that Mr. Whitney stated he was satisfied who wrote the articles but did not think they would materially influence the issue either way. Oliver suggested that some publicity might aid him but that too much might be dangerous.

John L. Morrison was called as a witness for Mr. Jamison and identified several copies of his paper carrying articles against Mr. Jamison which were his words but the data had been sent in by Mr. Michael.

The article contained in one issue unfavorable to Mr. Jamison came to the office without a signature. He surmised it was sent by Mr. Whitney but could not swear to that as he had no way of knowing although it came in the same mail that brought the mailing list. This was a typewritten copy. He had received but one letter sent by Mr. Whitney which was the letter in which Whitney refused to pay the $125. This payment asked, he explained, was simply a nominal sum as a matter of good faith. Morrison was asked a number of pointed questions by the attorney for the defendant concerning the activities of his attorney, Chas. Schruthein in conferring with Mr. Jamison, Mr. Lambert and Mr. Ryan quite recently, but witness testified that his case was in the hands of his attorneys and their activities were not generally known to him.

Alfred Lambert, alleged author of the affidavit which was circulated by Mr. Whitney furnished the information in the article in the Rip Saw which was issued just prior to election, was called for the defense. He is the father of thirteen living children and has been a resident of the county since 1885. His testimony opened with a review of his dealings with Judge Jamison as they affected two of his daughters who had gotten into trouble at an early age. One daughter came home with Chas. Brandall from St. Paul. The girl was sixteen and they had decided to marry to rectify a mistake. Lambert had made inquiries, according to his testimony, and found Brandall a man capable of giving his daughter a good home. This was during April, 1921. Arrangements were made for the wedding, wedding trousseau purchased at Brainerd and a minister engaged. Lambert came to Walker to get the license thinking the age of consent was less than 18 years but learned differently at Walker. Just previous to this time the girl decided she did not wish to marry Brandall but after another consultation and on the advice of her father she decided to marry in order to give the child a name. If she could not live with Brandall the father informed her she could live at home. At Walker witness testified that Mr. Jamison advised against the marriage on account of her youth, that he, Jamison, had jurisdiction of all children under age in the county and it was his place to prosecute in case of abuse and that it would be abusing the girl to marry her to this man at her tender age. Said she would have to live with Brandall if she married him, and advised that he have Brandall arrested. Witness testified that County Attorney Rogers and the sheriff advised him to go ahead with the marriage but he did not want to be prosecuted by Jamison for trying to take care of his own children so signed a petition to have Brandall arrested. Instead of coming home with the marriage license he rode out with the sheriff and told Brandall the case had been taken out of his hands. Brandall was arrested and the matter was adjusted by Brandall being ordered to pay $15 per month for the support of the child. This was done for three months when payment stopped and later Brandall was arrested and remained in the county jail for six months. He was then let out and has since kept up his payments. Later another daughter came to grief at the age of sixteen and the witness testified that Mr. Jamison advised sending the girl to the school for girls at Sauk Centre, that if the parents would sign the petition the girl would be returned home after the baby was 3 months of age. This induced the parents to sign the petition but when 3 months were up Mr. Jamison did not take action to have the girl returned to her home. Several meetings were held with Mr. Jamison and the last terminated by both losing their tempers. At the primary election Lambert was after Jamison's scalp and worked for the candidacy of A. A. Oliver. Later he took up the cause of Mr. Whitney during the fall election and wanted to place the facts in his case before the voters of Cass county through the columns of the Rip Saw but Mr. Whitney vehemently advised against such action. On his own authority he sent a story to the Rip Saw. The editor wired him to come to Duluth, expenses paid, to verify the statements. The witness acknowledged signing affidavit before A. O. Miller, Notary Public at Backus. Copies of this affidavit were circulated by Mr. Whitney just prior to the election.

At the evening session Mrs. Lambert was called and testified when Ruth was sent to Sauk Centre, Mr. Jamison promised her and her husband that the girl would be released three months after the baby was born and that when the time was up both she and her husband applied to Mr. Jamison for the girl's release and that he promised from time to time that the girl would soon be released and the last time she spoke to him about it was over the telephone and he hung up the receiver.

Frank N. Whitney testified as to repeated conversations with Lambert in which Lambert told him about the trouble he had with Jamison in connection with the cases of his daughters, Ruth and Emma. Mr. Jamison testified as to his conversations with Mr. and Mrs. Lambert, denied most of their stories and told her he acted for best interests of the two girls.

At the conclusion of the testimony the court stated that he was ready to give his decision on certain important features of the case but Mr. Ryan asked time to file a brief. Time was then granted for filing briefs, the contestant being given until Jan. 17th, and the contestee fifteen days thereafter, and the contestant 10 days after that.

In the meantime Frank N. Whitney, being in possession of the certificate of election, will take office until such time as Judge Watts hands down a decision in the matter. The outcome cannot be conjectured at the present time. Attorneys on both sides express confidence.

FROM "QUIVVER TO FLIVVER"

ONE OF FEW INDIAN BLACKSMITHS WORKS IN GLACIER PARK RESERVATION

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2.—First One is one of the few Indian blacksmiths of the red race. He is a full blood Blackfoot, 53 years of age, and he works daily at his forge in Browning, Mont., the agency town of the Glacier National Park Reservation.

First One never went to school but he studied nights and learned the "three R's" while serving his apprenticeship as a blacksmith. He makes nearly everything that can be pounded out of red-hot iron. His chief source of living comes from repairing farming implements, since so many of the Glacier Park Indians took up farming, and he also shoes the Indians' farm horses.

During the last few years he has had to learn what's under an automobile hood and the journey from "quivver to flivver" was a long shot for this Indian blacksmith to take. However, no automobile tourist need be hung up long for repairs when they break down on the Glacier Park Reservation, for First One now has an "Auto Repair" sign swinging beneath the huge wooden horseshoe over his door.

Birds Constantly at Work for Humanity

In a new country where the natural conditions of plant and animal life are changed, the balance of nature is likely to be upset. The value of bird life is perhaps greater in checking a plague in its incipient stage.

In parts of the Middle West there were serious outbreaks of the Rocky mountain locust or grasshopper many years ago, says Nature Magazine of Washington, D. C. Prof. Aughey of the University of Nebraska carried on a series of observations showing that the birds of these localities were helping a great deal to check the insect numbers.

Thrushes, kinglets, chickadees, nuthatches, warblers, vireos, swallows, crows, bluejays, blackbirds, kingfishers, cuckoos, woodpeckers, hawks, owls, pigeons, grouse, quail, gulls, and even humming birds and water birds had all taken to eating locusts.

Fifty-one locusts were taken from the stomach of a single yellow-headed blackbird. A tiny ruby-throated humming bird had four small locusts in its stomach. Six robins had eaten 265 locusts. Sixty-seven locusts were found in the stomachs of three bluebirds, and one little ruby-crowned kinglet had eaten 29. Many of these and other birds were feeding their young on locusts.

One barn owl had eaten 39 locusts. Five screech-owls had eaten 219 locusts. Six of the nine burrowing owls had eaten an average of more than fifty locusts each, the magazine article concludes. Hawks, as a class, were scarcely less active, for of the eleven species listed as having been examined by him, five were found to have eaten locusts.

A grasshopper pest in southern Oregon was something like the plague of grasshoppers that came upon the early Mormon settlers in Utah during the summer of 1848. The crops of the Mormons were partly saved by the great flocks of gulls that came in and settled over the fields, gorging themselves on the insects.

Chinese Societies

Chinese tongs are organizations, with an element of secrecy, of groups of Chinese for mutual protection and assistance. Basically, they are of a commercial character, the members being engaged in business, and they are thus rival trade associations. This rivalry occasionally breaks out into open warfare when aggressions by one tong against another, consisting of unfair commercial practices, boycotts, etc., gives the rival tong cause for offense. The tongs in the United States are branches of wider organizations, having their main headquarters in Shanghai and Peking, China, and branches exist in other nations besides the United States.

They All Talk

A young man talks with pleasure, and an old man talks with ease; an orator talks like some men walk—six days, go as you please.

The preacher talks of sins and things, of hell's eternal fury; the lawyer hurls his jawbones at a mad but helpless jury.

Thus each one talks and talks and talks, each of his own speech proud, forgetful of the patent fact that it's money that talks loudest.—A. P., Boston Transcript.

WEDDING RITES, QUAKER ONES

Unusual Ceremony Described at Nuptials of William R. Briggs and Nellie Henderson

QUAKERS HAVE NO MINISTER

Marriage Certificate Is Large Document Entirely Written in Ink

Clerk of the Courts W. A. M. Johnstone has just recorded a very interesting document, being the certificate of marriage of a couple belonging to the Friends or Quaker denomination.

This wedding was solemnized on December 24th, at the home of Richard Henderson, near Nisswa. Mr. Johnstone attended the wedding, and states that the ceremony was a most impressive one.

Several committeemen from the church in Iowa were present for the occasion. About 10:30 o'clock on the morning of the wedding, those who were to witness the ceremony gathered in the parlor of the Henderson home, where they sat in a silent circle. The Friends have no minister, each member arising and speaking as he is moved to do so.

Four chairs were placed in the center of the room, which were soon occupied by the bride and groom, William R. Briggs and Nellie Henderson, together with the attendants. The first words uttered were those of Mr. Henderson, who arose and quoted passages from the Bible pertaining to marriage.

The bride and groom then arose and pledged their vows to each other, after which Mr. Henderson again quoted from the Scriptures.

The marriage certificate, a large document written entirely with pen and ink, was then placed on a table, and the bride and groom signed it, followed by the signatures of the witnesses.

After congratulations, a very delicious wedding breakfast was served by the bride's parents.

The certificate of marriage is as follows:

Certificate of Marriage

Whereas, William R. Briggs, of Fairhope, in the county of Baldwin, in the state of Alabama, son of Benjamin and Elizabeth Briggs, and Nellie Henderson, of Nisswa in the county of Crow Wing, in the state of Minnesota, daughter of David C. and Margaret Henderson, having made known their intentions of marriage with each other in a monthly meeting of the Religious Society of Friends, held near Paulina, in O'Brien county, state of Iowa, and having consent of surviving parents, their proposals were allowed by the meeting:

These are to certify that for the full accomplishment of their intentions this 24th day of the 12th month, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred twenty-four, they appeared in a public meeting of Friends held at the home of Richard Henderson, near Nisswa, in the county of Crow Wing, in the state of Minnesota, and publicly declared that, in the presence of the Lord, they took each other for husband and wife, promising with Divine assistance to be loving and faithful companions until death should separate them.

And as a further confirmation thereof, they did then and there, to these presents subscribe their names—she, according to the custom of marriage, adopting the name of her husband.

William R. Briggs.
Nellie H. Briggs.

And we, whose names are hereunto affixed, being present at the solemnization, have, as witnesses thereto, subscribed our names: David and Margaret Henderson, Richard Henderson, David Henderson, Bernice Henderson, Ruth E. Henderson, Alice M. Henderson, W. A. M. Johnstone, Alma Eades, Edward Mattson, Henry C. Mattson, Anne C. Mattson and Mrs. A. S. Mattson.

The Minnesota law provides that all marriages solemnized among the people called Friends or Quakers, in the form heretofore practiced and in use in their meetings, shall be valid and not affected by any of the provisions of the law pertaining to marriage; and the clerk of the meeting in which each marriage is solemnized within one month after any such marriage shall deliver a certificate of the same to the clerk of the district court where the marriage took place.

D. A. R. to Meet

The Samuel Huntington Chapter, D. A. R., will meet on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. F. W. Wieland, 497 North Fourth street. A full attendance is desired.

JACOB STRICKLER DIED

Resident of Brainerd Since 1861
Passed Away at Cedar Falls, Iowa

Jacob Strickler, a resident of Brainerd since 1861, passed away on Thursday evening at Cedar Falls, Iowa, where he has made his home for the past three years. Death is said to have resulted from the infirmities of old age.

The remains will arrive from St. Paul on Saturday afternoon, for interment here. Funeral arrangements have not been made, but will be announced later.

DANCING PARTY A PLEASING ONE

Miss Ruth Beise Entertained at Iron Exchange Hall on New Year's Eve

5 PIECE ORCHESTRA PLAYS

Patrons and Patronesses of Function Included Many Prominent People of the City

One of the prominent social functions of the holiday season among the younger set was the dancing party given by Miss Ruth Louise Beise at the Iron Exchange hall on New Year's eve.

Favors in the form of paper parasols and pink roses were given to the ladies, and noise-makers to the gentlemen. Cowbells, ticklers and confetti were distributed at midnight and used to good effect in ushering in the new year.

The hall was very prettily decorated, poinsettias, Christmas plants and red candles being used in profusion. Frappe and wafers were served from a dainty booth during the evening.

The patrons and patronesses were Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Beise, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cleary, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. LaBar, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Webb, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Burnett, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Chadbourne and Mrs. W. V. Turcotte.

Miss Virginia Stewart, a classmate of Miss Beise's at Miss Dow's School, Brainerd, N. Y., was an out-of-town guest.

Risberg's five-piece orchestra furnished the music, presenting the latest dance numbers in a manner that added much to the success of the occasion.

CANTATA REPEATED

Dec. 31—Harold Degnan and Selma Jokela.

3 VAUDEVILLE ACTS AND PICTURE AT PARK TONIGHT

Due to inclement weather conditions, three of the vaudeville acts booked for New Year's day at the New Park theatre were not able to get into Brainerd until late last evening on account of belated train connections.

These three acts will be presented tonight with a special picture at regular prices, 10 and 35c. The management is very sorry to have a thing of this kind occur, but it is not within its power to keep coast trains on time. By presenting the three big acts and the picture at regular prices, it is hoped the public will be entirely satisfied. This is absolutely the biggest bill ever offered at regular prices.

CRITICALLY ILL

Roy Wickland Suffering From Spinal Trouble at His Home

Roy Wickland, 823 Main street, is critically ill at his home, suffering from spinal trouble.

Mr. Wickland was taken sick on Tuesday noon. He felt a pain in his back and decided that it was only from a cold which might have settled there, but this pain became steadily worse, and medical advice was obtained.

The doctors state that a nerve in the patient's spine is affected, which has caused a partial paralysis, and is attended by severe pain. A special nurse is in attendance.

Six Beautiful Coats at YOUR Price

A Silent Auction

A silent auction in which the highest price registered will take the coat no matter how low the price may be—however, the highest prices registered on or before January 10th take the coats.

Here is a great opportunity for those who would like to name the price on the coat they would like to buy. This is absolutely the case. And, you may get in at your price. These Six Coats will be displayed in our windows. Each one will be numbered. A box will be provided, into which you will drop your bid. WEDDING RITES, QUAKER ONES

QUAKERS HAVE NO MINISTER

Marriage Certificate Is Large Document Entirely Written in Ink

Clerk of the Courts W. A. M. Johnstone has just recorded a very interesting document, being the certificate of marriage of a couple belonging to the Friends or Quaker denomination.

This wedding was solemnized on December 24th, at the home of Richard Henderson, near Nisswa. Mr. Johnstone attended the wedding, and states that the ceremony was a most impressive one.

Several committeemen from the church in Iowa were present for the occasion. About 10:30 o'clock on the morning of the wedding, those who were to witness the ceremony gathered in the parlor of the Henderson home, where they sat in a silent circle. The Friends have no minister, each member arising and speaking as he is moved to do so.

Four chairs were placed in the center of the room, which were soon occupied by the bride and groom, William R. Briggs and Nellie Henderson, together with the attendants. The first words uttered were those of Mr. Henderson, who arose and quoted passages from the Bible pertaining to marriage.

The bride and groom then arose and pledged their vows to each other, after which Mr. Henderson again quoted from the Scriptures.

The marriage certificate, a large document written entirely with pen and ink, was then placed on a table, and the bride and groom signed it, followed by the signatures of the witnesses.

After congratulations, a very delicious wedding breakfast was served by the bride's parents.

The certificate of marriage is as follows:

Certificate of Marriage

Whereas, William R. Briggs, of Fairhope, in the county of Baldwin, in the state of Alabama, son of Benjamin and Elizabeth Briggs, and Nellie Henderson, of Nisswa in the county of Crow Wing, in the state of Minnesota, daughter of David C. and Margaret Henderson, having made known their intentions of marriage with each other in a monthly meeting of the Religious Society of Friends, held near Paulina, in O'Brien county, state of Iowa, and having consent of surviving parents, their proposals were allowed by the meeting:

These are to certify that for the full accomplishment of their intentions this 24th day of the 12th month, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred twenty-four, they appeared in a public meeting of Friends held at the home of Richard Henderson, near Nisswa, in the county of Crow Wing, in the state of Minnesota, and publicly declared that, in the presence of the Lord, they took each other for husband and wife, promising with Divine assistance to be loving and faithful companions until death should separate them.

And as a further confirmation thereof, they did then and there, to these presents subscribe their names—she, according to the custom of marriage, adopting the name of her husband.

William R. Briggs.
Nellie H. Briggs.

And we, whose names are hereunto affixed, being present at the solemnization, have, as witnesses thereto, subscribed our names: David and Margaret Henderson, Richard Henderson, David Henderson, Bernice Henderson, Ruth E. Henderson, Alice M. Henderson, W. A. M. Johnstone, Alma Eades, Edward Mattson, Henry C. Mattson, Anne C. Mattson and Mrs. A. S. Mattson.

The Minnesota law provides that all marriages solemnized among the people called Friends or Quakers, in the form heretofore practiced and in use in their meetings, shall be valid and not affected by any of the provisions of the law pertaining to marriage; and the clerk of the meeting in which each marriage is solemnized within one month after any such marriage shall deliver a certificate of the same to the clerk of the district court where the marriage took place.

D. A. R. to Meet
The Samuel Huntington Chapter, D. A. R., will meet on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. F. W. Wieland, 407 North Fourth street. A full attendance is desired.

JACOB STRICKLER DIED

Passed Away at Cedar Falls, Iowa

Jacob Strickler, a resident of Brainerd since 1861, passed away on Thursday evening at Cedar Falls, Iowa, where he has made his home for the past three years. Death is said to have resulted from the infirmities of old age.

The remains will arrive from St. Paul on Saturday afternoon, for interment here. Funeral arrangements have not been made, but will be announced later.

DANCING PARTY A PLEASING ONE

Miss Ruth Beise Entertained at Iron Exchange Hall on New Year's Eve

5 PIECE ORCHESTRA PLAYS

Patrons and Patronesses of Function Included Many Prominent People of the City

One of the prominent social functions of the holiday season among the younger set was the dancing party given by Miss Ruth Beise at the Iron Exchange hall on New Year's eve.

Favors in the form of paper parasols and pink roses were given to the ladies, and noise-makers to the gentlemen. Cowbells, ticklers and confetti were distributed at midnight and used to good effect in ushering in the new year.

The hall was very prettily decorated, poinsettias, Christmas plants and red candles being used in profusion. Frappe and wafers were served from a dainty booth during the evening.

The patrons and patronesses were Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Beise, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cleary, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. LaBar, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Webb, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Burnett, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Chadbourne and Mrs. W. V. Turcotte.

Miss Virginia Stewart, a classmate of Miss Beise's at Miss Dow's School, Brainerd, N. Y., was an out-of-town guest.

Risberg's five-piece orchestra furnished the music, presenting the latest dance numbers in a manner that added much to the success of the occasion.

CANTATA REPEATED

3 VAUDEVILLE ACTS AND PICTURE AT PARK TONIGHT

Due to inclement weather conditions, three of the vaudeville acts booked for New Year's day at the New Park theatre were not able to get into Brainerd until late last evening on account of belated train connections.

These three acts will be presented tonight with a special picture at regular prices, 10 and 35c. The management is very sorry to have a thing of this kind occur, but it is not within its power to keep coast trains on time. By presenting the three big acts and the picture at regular prices, it is hoped the public will be entirely satisfied. This is absolutely the biggest bill ever offered at regular prices.

CRITICALLY ILL

Roy Wickland Suffering From Spinal Trouble at His Home

Roy Wickland, 823 Main street, is critically ill at his home, suffering from spinal trouble.

Mr. Wickland was taken sick on Tuesday noon. He felt a pain in his back and decided that it was only from a cold which might have settled there, but this pain became steadily worse, and medical advice was obtained.

The doctors state that a nerve in the patient's spine is affected, which has caused a partial paralysis, and is attended by severe pain. A special nurse is in attendance.

U.S. IDEAL IS FAIR PLAY, SAYS BOXING HEAD

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Jan. 2.—Boxing has a most important part in forming the character of young American boys and it is the duty of ring champions to live up to the obligations of setting good examples of sportsmanship in the ring and in their conduct out of the ring, was one of the observations of George E. Brower, Chairman of the New York Boxing Commission, in a statement written recently for the New York Evening World.

Brower pointed out Gene Tunney, Benny Leonard, Mickey Walker and Tom Gibbons as being the ideal type of a boxer.

"Prevailing upon the holders of boxing titles to defend their championships," Brower said, "against outstanding contenders, is, of course, the big issue a boxing commission has to struggle with. Our next important duty is to bring about such order at boxing contests that the attendance of these so-called fight clubs will be on par in deportment with that which turns out for a theatrical performance or any other public entertainment.

"The American ideal is fair play and it should be absent in no manner or form from anything that may be a part of the boxing game. We should have fair play on the part of our champions, also fair play on the part of those who attend all contests.

"The influence for character-building wielded by the prominent boxers, and as reflected through the news columns of our daily press, is little realized. The men engaged in boxing are charged with a high responsibility as to the kind and degree of imagination their actions create.

"Where the evil is mostly to be feared in sports is from the great commercialized interests. This concerns baseball and other athletic pursuits as well as boxing. So long as these sports are honestly and properly regulated and are reported as contests waged truly as sport for sport's sake, with emphasis on fair play, the square deal, loyalty and unselfishness, and with prominence to pluck and grit, there is nothing to be feared.

"It is a fact that most of our boys can tell you the names of our Presidents and great soldiers, but few could name the Senators, even those of their own State. But find a boy, if you can, who does not know the name of Jack Dempsey and the line through which has come the crown which he wears. Since young men are thinking in such terms, the sooner we realize this fact the better.

NEW BANTAM CHAMPION CAN TAKE IT

WON HIS TITLE BY A DECISION
OVER ABE GOLDSTEIN IN A 15-ROUND BATTLE

"CANNONBALL MARTIN" IS NOT A
HARD HITTER AND HAS NO
RECORD FOR KNOCKOUTS

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Jan. 2.—Every time the vicissitudes of ringdom give us a new champion, we hold him up to the light to see how he got that way.

The past year kept the court jewelers of fistiana busy fitting old crowns to new heads, the most recent of which belongs to a stocky little Brooklyn Italian named Edward Vincent Martino, our new bantamweight champion.

Eddie Martin ("Cannonball Martin," Joe Humphries calls him), like many of our present crop of non-fighting title holders, came into the championship by virtue of a dubious decision after 15 rounds of milling with Abe Goldstein, the erstwhile incumbent.

But Eddie says he isn't going to be one of the non-fighters long. He promises to bring his new crown into the ring any time that his vaudeville engagements permit.

Martin is champion for the same reason "Bat" Nelson once was champion—because he can "take it" and keep right on "taking it" until the other fellow gets tired and is ready to be pushed over.

Veteran of some four score ring battles, the "Cannonball" has no record for knockouts. He is not a hard hitter. But he is as persistent as a scared female hornet and about as much bother for those in the ring with him. There is no waltz time when Eddie Martin does battle.

From going to gong, the new champion is on top of his man, slam, bang like the "Battler" of old, he is always boring in, boring in, socking from every angle, refusing to rest or pose for the movies or waste time in clowning. Being a Brooklyn Italian with nine brothers, Eddie likes to fight. He always had to.

The kid is short, even for a bantam, and stocky, with legs like a sailor and a chest like a barrel. His arms are short, another disadvantage, which he overcomes by getting in where they are plenty long enough to reach his man.

"I had stomach trouble so bad everything I ate soured and formed gas. Was miserable until I tried Adlerika. This helped the first day." Adlerika helps any case gas on the stomach unless due to deep-seated causes. The QUICK action will surprise you. Helium and Hydrogen

The bureau of standards says helium will lift 0.093 pounds per cubic foot under ordinary conditions. Hydrogen will lift 0.071 pounds per cubic foot. If air and gas are at the same pressure, reduction of pressure causes a proportional reduction of lift. Increase of pressure on the gas decreases the lift.

Plea to "Hold 'Em" Not

Good Advice, Says Wilce

Exhorting a football team to "hold 'em" when it has its back to the wall is all wrong.

Such is the positive opinion of Dr. J. W. Wilce, coach of three champion Big Ten football teams at Ohio State, where he has been director of football for 10 years.

"The plea to 'hold 'em,'" he declares, "is absolutely contrary to good football principles. Even when the ball is on the one-inch line with the opposition preparing to drive over, it is a matter of breaking through and throwing them where they are."

Most spectators, he points out, are interested in football from the standpoint of the offense. Defensive play, he concedes, cannot mean quite so much to spectators, but they should realize its vast importance.

"Spectators should realize," he adds, "that a team on the defense can gain ground, although not so clearly nor so consistently as a team on the offense. A team which is on the defense can gain ground by throwing back the offensive team for a loss. The 'roster' should bear this in mind."

No 1925 Swimming Team

Ohio State swimmers were disappointed with the announcement that the Buckeyes could have no swimming team until the school was equipped with a pool. Half a dozen aquatic enthusiasts had planned to form a team and practice in the Columbus Y. M. C. A. pool. Athletic officials, however, said the trips downtown for practice would be too inconvenient and declared no team could be formed to represent Ohio State this year.

NOTICE OF REAL ESTATE MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

Default having been made in the conditions of that certain real estate mortgage duly made, executed and delivered by Henry E. Kundert and Mazie Kundert, his wife, and Robert E. Snell and Bridget Snell, his wife, mortgagors, to John O. Hanchett, mortgagee, hearing date on the 15th day of November, A. D. 1919, with a power of sale therein contained, and duly filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Crow Wing and State of Minnesota, on the 19th day of November, A. D. 1919, at 12 o'clock noon of said day, and duly recorded therein in Book 27 of Mortgages on Page 65.

That the default under said mortgage consists in this, the failure on the part of the mortgagors to pay the installment of interest of Five Hundred Forty ($540.00) Dollars, due on the 15th day of November, 1924, and the failure to pay the principal mortgage debt and note of Nine Thousand ($9,000.00) Dollars, due and payable on the 15th day of November, 1924, and that under the terms of said mortgage, by reason of said default, the whole of said mortgage debt is now due and payable.

And whereas, there is claimed to be due and now due on said mortgage, including principal and interest, at the date of this notice, the sum of Ten Thousand ($10,000.00) Dollars and 40-100 ($10,112.40) Dollars.

And Whereas, no action or proceedings have been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

NOW THEREFORE, Notice is hereby given that by authority of the power of sale in said mortgage contained, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, to-wit:

All that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the County of Crow Wing and State of Minnesota, and described as follows, to-wit: The West Half (1/2) of Section Twenty-seven (27), in Township One Hundred Twenty-eight (128), North of Range Twenty-eight (28) West, containing Three Hundred and Twenty (320) acres, more or less, according to the government survey thereof; together with all the hereditaments and appurtenances thereto belonging or in anywise appertaining, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said County of Crow Wing and State of Minnesota, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Brainerd, County of Crow Wing and State of Minnesota, on the 17th day of January, A. D. 1925, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to satisfy and to pay the said debt now due as aforesaid, to-wit: the sum of Ten Thousand ($10,000.00) Dollars and 40-100 ($10,112.40) Dollars, with interest thereon at the rate of six per cent (6%) per annum from the date hereof, together with the sum of Fifty Dollars ($50.00) attorney's fees, as provided for in said mortgage and by law, and together with the costs and disbursements of said foreclosure and sale as allowed by law.

Dated this 26th day of November, A. D. 1924.

U.S. IDEAL IS FAIR PLAY, SAYS BOXING HEAD

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Jan. 2.—Boxing has a most important part in forming the character of young American boys and it is the duty of ring champions to live up to the obligations of setting good examples of sportsmanship in the ring and in their conduct out of the ring, was one of the observations of George E. Brower, Chairman of the New York Boxing Commission, in a statement written recently for the New York Evening World.

Brower pointed out Gene Tunney, Benny Leonard, Mickey Walker and Tom Gibbons as being the ideal type of a boxer.

"Prevailing upon the holders of boxing titles to defend their championships," Brower said, "against outstanding contenders, is, of course, the big issue a boxing commission has to struggle with. Our next important duty is to bring about such order at boxing contests that the attendance of these so-called fight clubs will be on par in deportment with that which turns out for a theatrical performance or any other public entertainment.

"The American ideal is fair play and it should be absent in no manner or form from anything that may be a part of the boxing game. We should have fair play on the part of our champions, also fair play on the part of those who attend all contests.

"The influence for character-building wielded by the prominent boxers, and as reflected through the news columns of our daily press, is little realized. The men engaged in boxing are charged with a high responsibility as to the kind and degree of imagination their actions create.

"Where the evil is mostly to be feared in sports is from the great commercialized interests. This concerns baseball and other athletic pursuits as well as boxing. So long as these sports are honestly and properly regulated and are reported as contests waged truly as sport for sport's sake, with emphasis on fair play, the square deal, loyalty and unselfishness, and with prominence to pluck and grit, there is nothing to be feared.

"It is a fact that most of our boys can tell you the names of our Presidents and great soldiers, but few could name the Senators, even those of their own State. But find a boy, if you can, who does not know the name of Jack Dempsey and the line through which has come the crown which he wears. Since young men are thinking in such terms, the sooner we realize this fact the better.

FOUR HORSEMEN

GAME AND RETIRE ON
STANFORD GOALFOUR HORSEMEN AND SEVEN
CORPORALS THEN WIN
27 TO 10

Pasadena Rose Bowl, Calif., Jan. 2.—The great Notre Dame "Four Horsemen" of football tore around and over the serried phalanx of Stanford here New Year's day for a 27 to 10 victory in one of the most spectacular inter-sectional games ever seen in the West. Rockne, coach of Notre Dame, tried out his second-string men at the outset, but sent in the cream of his stable when the Cardinals marched down the field.

The pace was terrific throughout the four periods, but foot speed out-played line bucking and the South Bend aggregation went off the field still undefeated this season and undisputed.

The fiery attack that has characterized the famous quartet of Notre Dame backfield stars this season was unimpaired by the long journey across the continent. Stanford could not match the speed of its backfield with that of the "Four Horsemen" and stubbornly yielded national honors to the Irish.

WALKER TO MATCH
STRIDES WITH NURMIBROOKLYN ENTRANT TO RUN
FIRST TIME IN OPEN
COMPETITION

New York, Jan. 2.—Ambition to match strides with Paavo Nurmi, the "Phantom Finn," today turned a walker into a full-fledged runner.

Harry Gaiger of the Comet A. C., Brooklyn, was denied the particular goal of his ambition when his entry was refused for the mile special, in which Nurmi makes his indoor debut against a picked field at the Finnish-American games next Tuesday, but he compromised on the next best thing by filing his entry for the three-quarter mile senior Metropolitan title race, another feature at the same meet.

Gaiger admitted he had not run in open competition before but declared he had competed last fall in the city hall to Coney Island walking race.

The field for the 3-4 mile race, incidentally, comprises 62 entries, a record for this event, in which Abel Kiviat, former Olympic star and mile champion, will defend the title he won in his comeback last season. Minneapolis Tribune.

NEW BANTAM
CHAMPION
CAN 'TAKE IT'WON HIS TITLE BY A DECISION
OVER ABE GOLDSTEIN IN
A 15-ROUND BATTLE"CANNONBALL MARTIN" IS NOT A
HARD HITTER AND HAS NO
RECORD FOR KNOCKOUTS

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Jan. 2.—Every time the vicissitudes of ringdom give us a new champion, we hold him up to the light to see how he got that way.

The past year kept the court jewelers of fistiana busy fitting old crowns to new heads, the most recent of which belongs to a stocky little Brooklyn Italian named Edward Vincent Martin, our new bantamweight champion.

Eddie Martin ("Cannonball Martin," Joe Humphries calls him), like many of our present crop of non-fighting title holders, came into the championship by virtue of a dubious decision after 15 rounds of milling with Abe Goldstein, the erstwhile incumbent. But Eddie says he isn't going to be one of the non-fighters long. He promises to bring his new crown into the ring any time that his vaudeville engagements permit.

Martin is champion for the same reason "Bat" Nelson once was champion—because he can "take it" and keep right on "taking it" until the other fellow gets tired and is ready to be pushed over.

Veteran of some four score ring battles, the "Cannonball" has no record for knockouts. He is not a hard hitter. But he is as persistent as a scared female hornet and about as much bother for those in the ring with him. There is no wait time when Eddie Martin does battle.

From going to gong, the new champion is on top of his man, slam, bang. Like the "Battler" of old, he is always boring in, boring in, socking from every angle, refusing to rest or pose for the movies or waste time in clowning. Being a Brooklyn Italian with nine brothers, Eddie likes to fight. He always had to.

The kid is short, even for a bantam, and stocky, with legs like a sailor and a chest like a barrel. His arms are short, another disadvantage, which he overcomes by getting in where they are plenty long enough to reach his man.

Helium and Hydrogen

The bureau of standards says helium will lift 0.060 pounds per cubic foot under ordinary conditions. Hydrogen will lift 0.071 pounds per cubic foot. If air and gas are at the same pressure, reduction of pressure causes a proportional reduction of lift. Increase of pressure on the gas decreases the lift.

Plea to "Hold 'Em" Not

Good Advice, Says Wilce

Exhorting a football team to "hold 'em!" when it has its back to the wall is all wrong.

Such is the positive opinion of Dr. J. W. Wilce, coach of three champion Big Ten football teams at Ohio State, where he has been director of football for 10 years.

"The plea to 'hold 'em,'" he declares, "is absolutely contrary to good football principles. Even when the ball is on the one-inch line with the opposition preparing to drive over, it is a matter of breaking through and throwing them where they are."

Most spectators, he points out, are interested in football from the standpoint of the offense. Defensive play, he concedes, cannot mean quite so much to spectators, but they should realize its vast importance.

"Spectators should realize," he adds, "that a team on the defense can gain ground, although not so clearly nor so consistently as a team on the offense. A team which is on the defense can gain ground by throwing back the offensive team for a loss. The 'rooter' should bear this in mind."

No 1925 Swimming Team

Ohio State swimmers were disappointed with the announcement that the Buckeyes could have no swimming team until the school was equipped with a pool. Half a dozen aquatic enthusiasts had planned to form a team and practice in the Columbus Y. M. C. A. pool. Athletic officials, however, said the trips downtown for practice would be too inconvenient and declared no team could be formed to represent Ohio State this year.
